SCENIC AND CALM

The harbor at Gloucester, Mass., makes a beautiful summer picture postcard with rippling water and the fishing boats in the background, a typical New England harbor scene. However, the eastern seaboard fishing port is facing a disaster — a dwindling fish supply. New industrial avenues — besides the sea — are being explored.

Auto Act Brings Up A First

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Dentist Dennis R. Jones' car had a sputtering engine.

So he took it to Harrington's Imported Car Clinic in San Bruno where he said he paid $431 and $293 for repair work that was not done.

Jones complained to the newly created state Bureau of Automotive Repair.

Following an investigation, auto clinic owner Denis Harrington, 43, and mechanic Russel A. Hartman, 44, today had the dubious distinction of becoming the first to face felony charges under the new automobile repair act which went into effect this month.

Keith Sorenson, San Mateo County district attorney, said they were booked on felony counts of conspiracy and grand theft. In addition, misdemeanor charges of failure to provide a written cost of repairs were brought against them.

Both men were free on $1,000 bail. Arraignment here was set for next week in municipal court.

They were accused of accepting money from Jones for an overhaul of his engine in January and replacement of the same engine in May, then failing to perform the work. The engine serial number was the same before and after the alleged replacement, said Rex A. Smith, district attorney's inspector.

The state Bureau of Consumer Affairs said the case was the first felony count to arise and the first to reach a court.

Just four days after the Bureau of Automotive Repair began operation a Fresno service station operator was charged with nine misdemeanor violations for allegedly issuing smog control device inspection certificates without actually performing the required inspections, a spokesman said.

Under the new law the bureau licenses all auto repair facilities in California and investigates consumer complaints with a staff of 150 persons.

Robert C. Alexander, director of the new bureau, said the state's approximately 35,000 repair facilities were required to pay a $50 licensing fee and to meet the following provisions in the new law:

—Customers be provided with a written estimate for labor and parts before any repair work is undertaken and no charge be made without customer approval.

—An invoice describing all service work and parts must be given to a customer.

—Customers be given the replacement parts he is charged

McGovern Picks O'Brien To Head Presidential Drive

His Mandate Will Be: Bring Party Together

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George S. McGovern today appointed Lawrence F. O'Brien, former Democratic national chairman, as chairman of his campaign for the presidency.

In a news conference statement, the Democratic nominee said O'Brien "will be a foremost consultant on the overall policy and strategy of my campaign."

McGovern made clear O'Brien's title would be "national campaign chairman" — not campaign manager. His mandate will be to try to bring the party together behind McGovern, rather than to manage the day-to-day movements of the candidate.

McGovern said O'Brien would be "personally and directly involved in all major campaign decisions" and would have as his basic mission the task of unifying "the support of key Democrats across the country."

O'Brien stepped down as Democratic chairman Friday after two terms and was succeeded by Jean Westwood, a 47-year-old businesswoman from Utah —the first women ever to lead either national party.

O'Brien, active in presidential campaigns since 1960, will be McGovern's liaison with congressional Democrats, Democratic governors, mayors, state legislative leaders, Democratic party officials, organized labor and other organizations.

McGovern said O'Brien "will be a principal spokesman for this campaign and I am urging him to travel to every section of the country to speak in support of my candidacy —in public forums, in private consultations with those organizations and individuals so important to our success in the fall."

In a statement of his own, O'Brien, who appeared at the news conference with McGovern, said the two Democratic leaders have been in "frequent contact" since the Democratic Convention ended in Miami Beach.

"His deep warmth, his full candor, and his complete grasp of the challenge lying ahead of us have impressed me greatly," O'Brien said of the Democratic presidential nominee.

The South Dakota senator made the announcement of O'Brien's selection an hour after he flew to Washington from a homestate vacation to be present to support legislation in the Senate to raise the minimum wage and to seek extension of coverage to millions more workers.

O'Brien observed that there was speculation McGovern "doesn't have a chance in November" and said: "I suppose that in addition to Richard Nixon, we shall once more do battle this year with (Pollsters) Harris and Gallup and prove them terribly wrong still another time."

As McGovern arrived from his retreat in South Dakota's Black Hills, administration spokesman were assailing him. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird described McGovern's Vietnam peace proposals as a "give away now and beg later" proposition.

Clark MacGregor, Nixon's re-election campaign director, said McGovern as President would jeopardize "peace abroad and prosperity at home." Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's communications chief, told a Texas audience that McGovern's "shifting positions" have won him a credibility gap.

But McGovern looked relaxed and tanned as he returned from five days in South Dakota for a 27-hour visit to the capital to support Democratic-sponsored legislation to raise the minimum wage to $2.20 an hour and to oppose a less liberal Nixon proposal.

McGovern sported a blue blazer, gray trousers and light tie as he headed quickly for the Capitol from the airport in a limousine. A large group of Secret Service agents accompanied him.

McGovern won at least one more Democratic endorsement before his arrival. Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said he would fully support the South Dakotan, even though he disagreed with him on some issues.

McGovern told reporters before he left his vacation retreat he was disappointed in the AFL-CIO's decision not to endorse any candidate this year, but said he does not believe the masses of organized working men and women would go along with the labor hierarchy.

U.S. Call For Calmness At Peace Table Ignored

PARIS (UPI)—The Paris peace talks bogged down again today despite U. S. pleas for a calm discussion of the issues and a secret meeting between American Henry A. Kissinger and the two top North Vietnamese negotiators.

The North Vietnamese strongly denounced U. S. attempts to seek a cease-fire first and a political settlement later. In turn, the South Vietnamese vigorously rejected the Viet Cong demand for a coalition government.

Today's session was the 151st since the talks started. It lasted about four hours and the negotiators agreed to meet again next Thursday.

"There was perhaps a slight improvement in the tone of exchanges but nothing discernible on substance," a U.S. negotiator said. "I explained to them we don't demand their acceptance of everything we propose, but I couldn't evoke from them any kind of statement which indicated their proposals are negotiable."

"We still are waiting for new American proposals," the Communists said. "We are ready to discuss these but today they brought nothing new."

Neither side referred to the Wednesday secret session between Kissinger, Nixon's top adviser, and the top Hanoi negotiators, Xuan Thuy and Le Duc Tho.

U. S. negotiator William J. Porter appealed to both sides for a calm discussion of the issues. Soon afterwards, South Vietnamese negotiator Pham Dang Lam said the Communists did not want a truce.

"You would agree to end the killing only if your own political solution is accepted or only if you are assured of reaching the same aims," Lam said.

"It did not take us long to discover that your speeches do not contain any new elements susceptible of provoking a breakthrough in the negotiations, as you wanted to make us believe. Neither your position nor your objectives have varied," he said.

The chief Viet Cong negotiator, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, stated flatly that the U.S. demand for separate political and military agreements "is obviously one-sided and does not lead to a settlement of the South Vietnamese problem."

Madame Binh said the U.S. participation in the war "manifests itself both militarily and politically. Therefore in order to put an end to such participation, these two aspects of the problems should be settled simultaneously."

Madame Binh again demanded that the United States accept the Viet Cong's seven-point peace plan, centered on complete withdrawal of U.S. troops, abandonment of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and the formation of a three-part coalition government including the Viet Cong, present Saigon leaders except Thieu and "neutrals."

Kissinger has said that the political settlement of the war — who should rule South Vietnam — remained the thorn in the negotiations. It is his stated contention thet the Viet Cong's proposed coalition government is a thinly veiled device to install a Communist-controlled regime.

Thuy, speaking for North Vietnam, echoed Madame Binh when he said: "Once the military and the political questions are agreed upon, all other questions such as the release of captured military men can be easily settled."

Thuy confined most of his speech and his remarks upon entering the conference to noting that today marks the 18th anniversary of the 1954 Geneva accords giving Vietnam freedom from French colonial rule. He demanded the United States respect those agreements.

Porter, speaking in a mild and friendly tone to reporters as he entered the conference, sounded more optimistic.

"We hope to be continuing today what should be a calm discussion of their proposals and ours," he said.

Nixon Suffers Tentative Defeat On Wage Package

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate tentatively rejected today an administration bill to raise the minimum wage to $2.00 by next year, clearing the way for adoption of a more liberal Democratic bill backed by the AFL-CIO and Sen. George S. McGovern.

The vote was 47 to 46.

McGovern broke off a South Dakota vacation to fly to Washington and voted with his liberal colleagues.

The President's bill would have boosted the minimum wage, now $1.60 an hour, by 20 cents in the fall and to $2 a year later. It would not have extended minimum wage coverage to millions of low-wage workers now exempt.

Joining the administration-backed substitute were California's Sens. Alan Cranston and John Tunney.

In contrast, the Democratic bill would raise the minimum to $2 next fall for non farm workers and to $2.20 a year later. It also would extend the law to cover 8.4 million workers now exempt —housemaids, civil servants, some retail store employes and ultimately some workers on big farms.

Farm workers on relatively sizable farms would go to $2.20, but not until 1975, under the Democratic bill.

In a vote after the 47-46 roll call, the Democrats accepted a Republican amendment which knocked out 1 million retail store employes from the bill's extension of coverage to uncov-

U.S. Bombers Running Low On New Targets In North

By HENRY S. HAYWARD
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

SAIGON — Indications are that American pilots are beginning to run out of new worthwhile targets in North Vietnam — only 10 weeks after the resumption of United States bombing attacks.

This does not mean there are not plenty of old targets that "merit" a repeat visit from U.S. bombers or fighter-bombers.

The North Vietnamese are held in high esteem by U.S. officials for their ability to repair damage quickly.

They fill in bomb craters in airfield runways. And they build bypasses around wrecked bridges.

Nor does lack of fresh targets mean that the ground rules are likely to be liberalized for American pilots. The sensitive area close to mainland China still is observed as a partial sanctuary — in order not to ruffle Peking's feelings too much.

And, Hanoi's claims notwithstanding, Red River dikes and dams also are off limits as direct targets for bombing. But in a country where dikes are so prevalent, defense installations, power stations, and supply dumps inevitably often are located close to flood-control systems — sometimes, it seems to American observers, deliberately.

Under the circumstances, it is conceded here that an occasional dike may be breached — but not out of deliberate U.S. policy.

Although virtually all conceivable military targets already have received a thorough pummeling, it nevertheless still is hard to assess the result. No hard evidence yet exists, ac-

Nixon Plans To Redraft His Antistrike Policy; No 'Deal'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon has abandoned controversial antistrike legislation and will redraft it following consultations with union leaders, the White House said today.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler insisted the move was not a "deal" with the union movement to obtain tacit or active labor support in Nixon's re-election bid.

Labor has been vehement in its objections to Nixon's bill that would have established a new procedure in major transportation industry labor disputes. Both sides would have been required to submit their final offer to an impartial panel which would select one or the other as a compulsory settlement.

"It has no chance of passage this year," Ziegler said of the bill. "We want to take a look at it again to work out some difficulties. We will take the opportunity to review it with organized labor." This conflicted with an assessment by Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., congressional sponsor of the administration bill. He has said he believes he has the votes to push through the Senate the bill to head off strikes in trucking, railroad and airline industries.

But Packwood, Senate manager of the legislation, said that he would not bring up the measure since the administration no longer was backing it.

Ziegler said he did not know if Nixon had discussed his plans for the legislation with Frank Fitzsimmons before the Teamster President announced his endorsement of the President's re-election.

"No union organization would make a determination of their support of the President based on just one piece of legislation," Ziegler said. "There was no deal."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

He Can't Sue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The father of a Kent State University coed killed by Ohio National Guardsmen cannot sue the state of Ohio for alleged "negligent and wanton" misconduct, the state Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

Arthur Krause of Churchill Borough, Pa., had brought a wrongful death suit against the state for the death of his daughter Allison, one of four students shot and killed by guardsmen May 4, 1970.

"The state of Ohio is not subject to suits in tort in the courts of this state without the consent of the General Assembly," the court ruled.

In Pittsburgh, Krause called the decision a "miscarriage of justice" and said he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

500,000 Stranded

MANILA (UPI) — More than half a million Filipinos were homeless or stranded today and an estimated 197 people were dead in the worst floods to hit the Philippines since World War II.

Red Cross Secretary General Mrs. Loretto Paras Sulit said more than 500,000 people were homeless, isolated or stranded in Central Luzon Province and that flood waters up to 10 feet deep in some areas continued to rise. She said Manila, struck by more than two feet of rain in three days, was "90 per cent under water" and that 50 evacuation centers had been set up in the greater Manila area to provide food and shelter for about 14,000 people.

Agreement Seen

TOKYO (UPI) — The United States expects Japan to announce a "dramatic" $1 billion trade agreement next week at the end of the most important bilateral economic talks since the end of World War II, a U.S. embassy official said today.

The agreement would include Japanese purchases to buy enriched uranium, feed grains and other commodities, according to the embassy official.

The United States and Japan will open the economic conference next Tuesday at Hakone, a cool mountain resort 50 miles southwest of Tokyo. The American side will be headed by William Eberle, President Nixon's special representative for trade.

Docks Dispute

LONDON (UPI) — The Port of London, Britain's busiest, was brought to a standstill today by a dispute over jobs among two factions of the same union.

Truck drivers threw picket lines around entrances to all London docks and turned back trucks trying to make deliveries or pickups. A Port of London spokesman said the action was "100 per cent effective."

Ships continued to be unloaded by dock workers, but the truck drivers let virtually nothing into or out of the dock area.

Protest Ends

ATTICA, N.Y. (UPI) — The approximately 600 inmates who participated in a three-day strike at the Attica prison ended their protest yesterday. But a state of emergency remained in effect today as a precautionary measure.

The inmates agreed to come out of their cells after a meeting between prison superintendent Ernest L. Montanye and the inmate liaison committee.

Montanye agreed to two of 11 inmate demands.

One of the demands met was the rehiring of Mary Kingsley, the nurse whose firing in part touched off the strike.

Montanye also told the prisoners he would agree to their demand to assign a corrections officer to the liaison committee.

Oyster Deaths

HONOLULU (UPI) — Environmentalists today blamed pollution for the unexplained death of nearly 34 million oysters in Pearl Harbor.

Life on the Land, an ecology group, said the deaths were "no mystery to us."

"The state and federal governments have passively allowed streams emptying into Pearl Harbor to be used as receptacles for all kinds of hazardous material," a spokesman said.

In the past two months, 99 per cent of the harbor's oysters have died. State Department of Health officials said Wednesday that they didn't notify the Navy or the public of the situation because of "an oversight."

Body Found

BELFAST (UPI) — A passerby discovered today the decomposed body of a young man stuffed in a hedgerow near the airport. Police said the exact cause of death was not known, but he was believed to be another victim of Ulster violence.

The death raised the toll in Ulster to 451 over the three years.

The country roads near the airport have been frequently used by gunmen to dump their victims.

'Peace Is Possible'

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican said today that world peace is possible if men will only work for it and that the horror of modern combat makes war out of date.

To underline this, it chose for its next World Day of Peace, Jan. 1, the theme: "Peace Is Possible."

The theme is publicized six months in advance to allow national and local churches around the world to develop it with programs of their own.

This year's theme was: "If You Want Peace, Work For Justice."

Action Over Pay

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Comedian Jerry Lewis filed suit in Superior Court Wednesday charging the American Broadcasting Co. had underpaid him by $42,544.51 for his 1962 television series.

Alleged Mafia Members Take 'Fifth' 78 Times

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The alleged New England underworld boss and the owner of a defunct Massachusetts race track linked with crime money took the Fifth Amendment 78 times Wednesday at a congressional crime investigation.

Joseph Phillips, counsel for the House Crime Committee, said the substance of the questions he posed for alleged Mafia members Raymond Patriarca and Salvatore "Sam" Rizzo was xased on FBI wiretaps.

Patriarca invoked the Fifth Amendment to avoid selfincrimination 44 times. He was asked primarily if he had invested $214,000 in the Berkshire Downs race track and if he had any business dealings with singer Frank Sinatra, a 5 per cent stockholder in the track.

Patriarca, who is serving a sentence for conspiracy to commit murder, said he knew Sinatra only "on television and in the moving pictures."

Sinatra in testimony Tuesday denied knowing Patriarca. Sinatra said he invested $55,000 in the track in 1962 and pulled out a year later.

Berkshire Downs went bankrupt in 1965.

Rizzo, who ran the track, refused to answer any of the 34 questions put to him.

If Rizzo had talked, a committee spokesman said, he would have been asked in detail about his association with Sinatra.

Sinatra said he met Rizzo in an Atlantic City nightclub in 1962 and agreed to invest in the track.

Patriarca said he claimed the Fifth Amendment because of a pending trial in Rhode Island.

Of the questions he did answer, Patriarca said he was only a middle class vending machine operator and did not have $214,000 to invest in anything.

He also said that Joseph "The Baron" Barboza, who in testimony May 24 linked Patriarca and Sinatra with Mafia dealings at the track, was "a nutcake."

"He is liable to say anything to keep himself out of prison," Patriarca said.

The Met To Carry On Despite Death Of New General Manager

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 1972-73 Metropolitan Opera season will be presented unchanged in the best show business tradition in spite of the accidental death of its new general manager two months before opening night.

The death Tuesday of Goeran Gentele, who was formerly manager of the Royal Opera House in Stockholm, was a body blow to the financially harrased company because his selection had come after a three-year search by the board of directors. He succeeded Sir Rudolf Bing last month after a year-and-a-half apprenticeship in the job.

It was clear that the board could not find a replacement immediately and probably not in the near future. George Sam Moore, Met president, said a committee would be set up to "consider this on a long-range basis" and in the meantime "Mr. Gentele's team has been asked to carry on, on an interim basis."

"The whole season will be presented as planned," Moore said emphatically.

One thing is for sure. Sir Rudolf will not be asked to step in on an emergency basis, even though the operas and casts scheduled for the coming season were largely of his planning.

Bing and Gentele had been rather cool in their relationship, especially after Gentele threw out Bing's choice for opening night—Wagner's "Tannhauser", an old production—and scheduled a brand new "Carmen" with Leonard Bernstein conducting and the exciting American soprano, Marilyn Horne, as Carmen.

Since Gentele had already transmitted his interpretation of "Carmen" to his directorial crew (Don Jose is no fool after all) rehearsals will get under way Aug. 1 as scheduled with a minimum of confusion.

Miss Horne said Gentele's death was "bound to put a damper on the production which will become a memorial to him."

Shelved for the moment will be such Goeran projects as a miniature Met at Lincoln Center's Beaumont theater for experimentation in new operatic forms and bringing Swedish film director Ingmar Bergmen onto the directorial force.

It is not the first time the Met has faced such a crisis. When Giulio Gatti-Casazza retired in 1935 after a long and brilliant career as general manager, the board hired Herbert Witherspoon for the job. Witherspoon died before the season opened and tenor Edward Johnson, inexperienced in management, was named to the post.

PROPOSAL — Latest proposed development for the hill north of the Marin Civic Center is this six-story office building, a bank and restaurant, as seen from the parking lot. Architect Jorge De Quesada, who prepared this sketch, says the development would be largely invisible from the Civic Center because it would nestle into the already heavily graded site.

New Civic Center Development Plan Revealed By Nicolaisen

A new proposal for development on a graded hillside east of Highway 101 and north of the Civic Center will come before the San Rafael Planning Commission next week.

San Rafael contractor Arthur R. Nicolaisen now proposes a six-story office building, a bank and restaurant for the hill just east of the Terra Linda interchange, which has already been heavily graded.

He earlier wanted to build a motel, 10-story office building and a restaurant on the 15-acre site, which looms in view from the north end of the Civic Center.

He dropped the motel plan as economically impractical and scrapped the 10-story building proposal after opposition from residents and the Marin County Planning Commission.

Although the site is within the San Rafael city limits, the county commission and staff considered the proposal because of its proximity to the Civic Center.

"Our main concern was the tremendous amount of traffic that would have been generated on the already inadequate interchange" (at Terra Linda), said Harvey Bragdon, county chief of current planning.

A traffic study commissioned by Nicolaisen concludes that traffic which would accompany the latest proposal "can be adequately accommodated with certain improvements to the adjacent intersection."

The report, drawn up by the San Francisco firm of De Leuw, Cather and Co., said the development would attract 1,535 vehicles per day or about 350 less than the last office plan.

The report recommended rechanneling northbound offramp traffic, eliminating movement from Civic Center Drive to the northbound freeway on-ramp, and providing a free right-turn lane for southbound Civic Center Drive traffic.

The development would be largely invisible from the Civic Center because of mounds and hills, although portions of it could be seen from some parts of the Civic Center parking lot, according to Jorge De Quesada, architect.

Japan Braces For Typhoon

TOKYO (UPI)—Typhoon Rita threatened to hit southern Japan a glancing blow today, prompting fears that the region would be subjected to renewed floods which devastated the area earlier this month.

Weather officials tonight located Rita 210 miles south of Kyushu, Japan's southernmost island, but they predicted it would veer west to China after brushing past the southernmost prefecture of Kagoshima.

Winds in the center of the typhoon were about 80 miles per hour, the weather officials said.

LOOK WHO VOTED VEGA THE BEST ECONOMY CAR IN THE WORLD. AGAIN.

Every year is election year for the readers of Car and Driver magazine.

Every year they vote for what they believe are the best cars in the world in various categories.

This year they voted Vega "best economy sedan" against some pretty stiff competition from Japan, Germany, Italy. Even the U.S.A.

That's quite a tribute when you think about it.

These people really know cars. And when they pick a winner, it's truly a winner.

They've picked Vega two years in a row now. (In 1971, Vega's very first year on the market, it managed to unseat the incumbent import, breaking its eight-year winning streak.)

Chevrolet would like to thank the readers of Car and Driver for helping to confirm what we've been saying right along:

Vega is "the little car that does everything well."

It moves well, stops well, turns well, rides well. And it looks, well, it looks pretty darn sporty for an economy car.

Obviously it takes more than economy to be voted "best economy sedan."

Drive a Vega now, while The Vega Drive is on.

Mill Valley Project Funds Are Approved

Tentative funding approval for the construction of 70 family units of low-income housing at Shelter Hill, Mill Valley, was announced at last night's meeting of the Ecumenical Association for Housing in Marin.

President William Parnow said the federal approval had been granted by Department of Housing and Urban Development. No construction date for the project has been set yet.

Parnow said the association office will move to the Whistlestop at 930 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael, in mid-August (The headquarters of Marin Senior Coordinating Council).

The association is presently headquartered at 1327 Lincoln Avenue, where construction will soon begin at 66 units of low and moderate income housing for the elderly.

In a new policy decision, the association board decided to accept a request from a Contra Costa group to act as consultants for a lower income housing development in that county.

Parnow said the association will make a feasibility analysis and recommendation on a fee basis.

Preparations for the fall funding appeal were discussed by Hazen Goddard, of Christ Presbyterian Church, and Tom Zeller of St. Anselm's Church. They said EEH will seek two classes of sponsors to help its three-year funding plan — sustaining community sponsors, and community sponsors.

Scott Patton, a new delegate from Christ Episcopal Church, Sausalito, was introduced and eleven new advisory members were announced; Donald A. Beacock, John E. Cahill, Fred Drexler, E. Perrin Fay, John A. Grasham, Jean Holmer, George B. Loenard, Jordan L. Martinelli, Sr., Dean Meyer, Catherine S. Mills.

The association's next meeting will be September 20 at 7:45 p.m. at Pilgrim Park Community Center, San Rafael.

A Solution To Readymix Bay Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Negotiators in the six-week strike of Bay Area readymix concrete truck drivers reached tentative agreement today after an all-night bargaining session.

Federal mediator Gene Barry announced settlement of the dispute after a 22-hour negotiating session between the Teamsters Union and the Aggregate and Concrete Contractors of Northern California.

Barry said both sides had requested that details of the settlement be kept secret until the three striking Teamsters locals in San Francisco, Santa Clara and Contra Costa counties held ratification meetings Friday.

He said that if the members approve the settlement, work should resume by Monday.

Teamsters in three other bay area counties, who walked out in sympathy with the striking locals, are expected to withdraw their pickets from plants and projects in San Mateo, Alameda and San Benito counties.

About 1,000 drivers walked off the job six weeks ago to back demands for higher wages and fringe benefits and for jurisdiction over owner-operator subcontractors on construction jobs.

Hundreds of millions of dollars of construction projects were tied up and 11,000 other union members were idled for about a month.

Stalled projects included BART stations and tunnel work in San Francisco and Daly City, high-rise buildings and tract homes and swimming pools.

Office Building Plans Approved

The Novato Plan Review Committee last night approved plans by Hoytt Enterprises for an office building on Novato Boulevard between Sambo's restaurant and the Novato Branch Library.

Members, meanwhile, denied plans by William Tobin for a four-unit apartment project at the end of Park Court, adjacent to Novato Creek.

The committee approved plans by Empire Chevrolet for a sales and display site on the south side and vehicle storage on the north side of its lot, adjacent to the Novato Fair Shopping Center.

The committee adjourned until its next regular meeting at 8 p.m. Aug. 2 at Novato Community House.

Copilot Shot But Still Lands Plane

CARTAGENA, Colombia (UPI)—The copilot of an airliner with 53 persons aboard, badly wounded by a passenger who went berserk and killed the pilot, managed to land "almost perfectly" despite his wounds.

The Viscount of the TAO airlines was on a flight from the islnd of San Andres to Bogota when the incident took place Tuesday. Police said a passenger identified as Benjamin Suarez pulled out a pistol, dashed into the cabin and began firing.

Before he could be disarmed, Suarez had shot and killed the pilot and seriously wounded copilot Alfonso Ferrer. Ferrer, a bullet in his head, brought the plane under control and headed for Cartegena, the nearest airport.

Premier Loses His Majority

THE HAGUE (UPI)—The Dutch government of Premier Barend Bie Sheuvel resigned today after losing its parliamentary majority, the Royal Palace announced.

The four party coalition government's majority in the Second Chamber (lower house) fell to 74 Monday after two Democratic Socialist ministers resigned after the government refused their proposal of declaring an immediate wage and prize freeze.

Queen Juliana had asked the remaining government members to carry on on a caretaker basis, the announcement said.

cording to officials, that North Veitnam is yet running short of fuel — even though most of the known ways of transporting fuel have been interdicted seriously.

Indeed one of the lessons of the war, so far, for Moscow is that SAM models sent to North Vietnam are not highly effective against the present generation of American aircraft.

Soviet MIG jet fighters flown by North Vietnamese pilots, meanwhile, still rise from time to time to challenge American airmen. The aerial clashes are inconclusive in the sense that a MIG effort has never yet turned back an American strike or prevented tactical aircraft from reaching targets in North Vietnam.

Yet despite these impressive U.S. air achievements, it is not yet clear that they are winning the war by choking off Communist military supplies or breaking the country's morale.

In a nation where 85 per cent of the people live in small villages, and which is described as "highly underdeveloped," military measures that would be devastating elsewhere are not necessarily fatal.

For one reason or another, however, the fact is that the Communists have made no major offensive effort at An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon, since mid-May. In northern Quang Tri Province, the South Vietnamese are on the offensive; and elsewhere in South Vietnam, no significant North Vietnamese activity is visible.

Hanoi may at any time demonstrate its ability to resume attacking. But military people here do not believe the present slow-down is part of their plan. They think it was forced upon North Vietnam by their losses.

Murderer Missing At Prison

Lawmen throughout Marin and San Francisco counties today were seeking a convicted murderer who escaped at midmorning from San Quentin Prison, possibly in a prison guard's car.

There were conflicting reports whether the guard was driving the car or whether the convict had driven it away after working on it in the prison's gasoline service station this morning.

The missing murderer is Anthony Joseph Herrera, 33, according to Joseph R. O'Brien, prison information officer. The auto belongs to correctional officer L. E. Duffy of San Francisco, O'Brien said.

O'Brien said Herrera last was seen about 10:20 a.m., working on Duffy's Falcon station wagon. Herrera was missed 20 minutes later. O'Brien said Herrera either hid in the car and escaped when Duffy left the prison, or took the car by himself, but the information officer said he had been told Duffy drove out the gate shortly after 10:30 a.m.

Herrera, described as being 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighing 175 pounds, has black hair and brown eyes.

He was sent to San Quentin in January 1968 after a first degree murder conviction in Sonoma County. He had been convicted of forgery in Santa Cruz County in 1964, then paroled.

Parade Figure Pleads Innocent

A 40-year-old Mill Valley man whose singlehanded effort to stop Corte Madera's Fourth of July parade was trampled under the feet of a girls marching unit has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a disorderly conduct charge.

Judge Peter Allen Smith set a pretrial conference for Aug. 8.

Corte Madera police arrested Peter James Crabtree after he tried to stop the parade and ended up downtrodden by the girls group from the Petaluma Police Department.

Police said Crabtree first tackled the fire engines, but moved away when they slowly inched toward him. The girls from Petaluma halted momentarily in confusion when he dropped in front of them, but then marched crisply over him, police said.

Innocent Plea Is Entered In Theft

Two Marin men pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of robbery and car theft.

A preliminary hearing for Edwin Wesley Cadra Jr., 21, of San Rafael, and Jesse Howard Chidester II, 23, of Novato, was set for July 28.

San Rafael police stopped a car driven by Cadra in the parking lot of Mayfair Market, Third and Union Streets, Saturday because they knew he had a $33 traffic warrant outstanding.

As they questioned him, Steven Alfred Hall, 18, of San Rafael, approached and told police the two men had forced him to give up his car after he had given them a ride from Canal Street to the store.

Robbery Count Hearing Is Set

A preliminary hearing for two of four persons charged with robbing a 79-year-old invalid in his San Rafael home was set yesterday for Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Paul Brent Caldwell, 25, of Sonoma, and hDanny Ray Pyles, 23, of San Rafael, were arrested July 11 along with a 13-year-old boy on suspicion of taking $300 from Ralph D. Hoy of 1818 Fifth Avenue on June 28.

San Rafael police said the four knocked Hoy out of his wheelchair, but that the victim provided a description of the car they escaped in.

Police still are seeking the fourth man, Pyles's xrother.

ered workers. The vote was 91 to 0.

It retains the provision in current law which exempts from coverage workers in stores which do less than $250,000 a year annual volume.

The House narrowly passed the Nixon bill last May. The Senate bill will have to be reconciled with the less liberal House-passed measure.

Final Senate action on the Democratic bill is expected some time before 10 o'clock EDT tonight.

The administration argued that the Democratic bill would unleash a new wave of inflation and force marginal firms to lay off workers —thas boosting unemployment.

Democrats responded that the same arguments were made when the minimum wage was only 40 cents an hour.

About 14.7 million, low-wage workers are now exempt from coverage. The Democratic bill would bring under the minimum 8.4 million of them— between 750,000 and 1.5 million workers on medium-size farms, 1.4 million retail store employes, 1.2 million domestic maids and servants, 1.7 million federal employes and 3.2 million state and local government employes.

The bill would raise the minimum wage to $2 in 60 days of enactment and to $2.20 a year later. The minimum is now $1.60 for most workers and $1.30 for workers on large farms.

The administration argued that an increase of more than 37 per cent in 14 months, as the Democrats proposed, would be inflationary and would drive many marginal businesses to the wall. They said employers would cut down the size of their payrolls and curb overtime, thus increasing unemployment and defeating the bill's purposes.

Corte Maderan Leads Pickets

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The opening of "Godspell," a musical about Christ, was picketed Tuesday by a small group of "Jews for Jesus," headed by a Corte Madera resident.

Moishe Rosen of 101 Casa Buena Boulevard, said the show depicted Christ as a "ridiculous figure," and passed out pamphlets to theater-goers that proclaimed "Jesus is alive and well and is coming back soon to bring peace to Earth."

The musical's young author, John-Michael Tebelak, said the show "is Christ as a clown. . . but in a circus, if someone falls. . . the clown is the first to save the show. We're trying to show pure lgve and an innocent understanding of Christianity."

Commerce Dept. Objects To Pier

One objection to the proposed pier and floating dock in Greenbrae has been received by the Army Corps of Engineers, said E. R. Scleiger of the permit branch of the corps today.

Casitas Co. of 147 Bon Air Center asked the corps for a permit for the dock to serve two 12-unit apartments under construction on South Eliseo Drive.

The Department of Commerce made the only objection so far, Scleiger said.

Objections are forwarded to the applicant and the objectors and applicant then try to compromise their differences, he said. This should take approximately eight weeks, he said.

OBITUARIES

Descendant Of Pioneer Dies At 87

Julia R. Thayer, lifelong Marin County resident and a granddaughter of Spanish land grant holder Ignacio Pacheco, died yesterday in a Mill Valley rest home after a long illness. She was 87.

Mrs. Thayer was born in San Rafael and grew up in the family's old adobe home at Ignacio, which later burned and is now the site of Galli's Restaurant.

Her grandfather settled on the 6,659-acre Rancho San Jose in 1834 after serving as a soldier at the Presidio of San Francisco. He was given title to the vast property (part of which is now the site of Hamilton Air Force Base) by the Mexican government in 1840.

He was San Rafael's first alcalde, or judicial officer.

Mrs. Thayer's mother was Catalina Pacheco Valencia, daughter of Pacheco's third wife, Maria Loretta Duarte.

Mrs. Thayer was married in 1915 to the late Edwin H. Thayer, onetime deputy county assessor, who died in 1942. When her husband went overseas during World War I, Mrs. Thayer went to work as a bookkeeper and clerical worker and continued employment until she retired at the age of 75.

She worked for Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for many years, retiring from there when she was 60. However, when World War II started, she went back to work for the 12th Naval District office in Oakland and continued there until 1958.

Most of her adult life she lived in San Anselmo.

Four years ago she entered a rest home because of ill health.

PALM GETS PRIORITY

Perri Perrin mounts sentinel at a construction marker before her home at 901 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, guarded in the rear by the towering 80 year old palm tree she saved from the bulldozer. When Miss Perrin, 20, heard the palm was to be sacrificed for a sidewalk in the county's road widening project, she began a whirlwind one-girl conservation effort. Enlisting the help of the Marin Conservation League, Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., and the county's public works department, she arranged for the new sidewalk to go around the tree. A student at California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo, Miss Perrin said when she came home for the holidays and saw the bulldozers bearing down on the palm she shouted: "This is too much!" GM Corvair Gets Clean Health Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Corvair, a long time target of critic Ralph Nader who claimed it was prone to roll over aven at low speeds, today was given a defect-free endorsement by a government study.

"No potential safety related defect exists" in the 1960-63 model Corvair, a two-year investigation concluded by the Transportation Department claimed.

Nader reacted with a letter to Sen. Warren Magnuson, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, urging an immediate investigation of the report, which he labeled "a whitewash" of the compact rear engine car.

Magnuson termed the Transportation Department's conclusions "startling in the light of past testimony on the Corvair's instability." Magnuson pledged to query Douglas Toms, the administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, the agency which conducted the investigation, at a committee hearing next week.

General Motors, whose president, Edward Cote, is known as the "father of the Corvair" feuded with Nader for eight years over the stability and handling characteristics of the 1960-63 Corvair —235,000 of which still are on the highway. GM stopped production of the car in 1969 by which time sales of the Corvair had been sharply affected by the controversy.

Advised of the government verdict, a General Motors spokesman said the study "confirms our position on the handling and stability characteristics of these cars."

The publication in late 1964 of Nader's book "Unsafe at Any Speed" sparked the controversy over the Corvair. Nader argued that the car was unstable to the point where it could be easily turned over by drivers attempting to turn corners.

The safety administration claimed its road tests showed that the Corvair does not have "an abnormal potential for loss of control or roll over . . ."

Larkspur Delays On Map; A Legal Snarl

The Larkspur City Council, temporarily without a city attorney last night, was unable to come to a decision whether legal requirements had been met for approval of the final map of Meadowood Subdivision No. 3.

The council last night formally accepted the resignation of attorney Robert W. Elliott, who had written that the press of other business and the fact that the council did not want him to turn over work to an assistant, forced him to resign.

Peter B. Brekhus, the assistant, was appointed acting city attorney, but it was indicated he did not want the job on a permanent basis.

In the meantime last night, the council postponed to the Aug. 2 meeting a decision on whether developers of the third unit of Meadowood should be given final approval.

Plans For Pool, Club Approved

The Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee has approved plans for a swimming pool and clubhouse facility proposed by the Scott Valley Swim and Tennis Club on Underhill Road.

The committee's action Tuesday means that construction of the club can begin as soon as the sewer ban is lifted, according to Howard R. McGill, zoning administrator.

He said that grading is already underway on the 5.5-acre site.

The committee also approved plans for remodeling the old Brown's Furniture store at 38 Miller Avenue. The structure is being turned into a retail shop complex, McGill said.

It continued the rest of the agenda to 8 p.m. Aug. 1.

The council asked legal advice on whether approval of a tentative map of the 20-lot subdivision by the planning commission had given automatic approval for grading, which was shown essentially the same as on the final map.

Opponents of the proposed final map, residents of the first two units, have suggested that some large trees on top of a hill be saved and that the hill not be graded on top as drastically as shown on the map.

Attorney James McKinney, representing developers Ed Kuykendall and Fred DeCook, said his clients had met all requirements and that he wanted it "on the record" that they did not consent to a continuance.

The Larkspur City Council also:

SUBDIVISION — Postponed to Aug. 2 final approval of Nara Gardens condominium subdivision because developer John Moran had not met legal requirements of obtaining tax clearances.

CREEK — Endorsed Senate Bill 793, which would extend jurisdiction of the Bay Conservation Development District up Corte Madera Creek to Bon Air Road.

LICENSES — Adopted a new flat rate fee schedule for city licenses.

ABSENT — Vice Mayor Alfred J. Malvino presided in the absence of Mayor William G. Fleckles.

MEETING — Set a joint meeting with the planning commission for 8 p.m. Aug. 9 to discuss the Countywide Master Plan and revising Larkspur's master plan.

ADJOUR — Adjourned to the next meeting at 8 p.m. Aug. 2.

Helicopters Stage Raids Into North

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Marine helicopter gunships raided the North Vietnamese coast Wednesday, the second time in the war that helicopters have been used in offensive operations over the North, the U.S. command said today.

Military sources said about six AH1 Sea Cobras flying off the USS Denver from the U. S. 7th Fleet offshore reported destroying three water craft and damaging six others 66 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) searating the two Vietnams. The helicopters fired rockets and 20mm cannon shells.

In fighting in South Vietnam, Communist gunners Wednesday shot down a U.S. jet fighter-bomber and two U.S. helicopters supporting the South Vietnamese drive to recapture Quang Tri City. Four Americans were wounded.

Spokesmen said the only other time choppers flew into North Vietnam was the November, 1971, raid on the Son Tay prisoner of war camp, which was found empty.

General Town Meeting Is Off

The general meeting of the San Rafael Town Meeting Association set for July 26 has been canceled, Priscilla Bull, the forum's vice chairman, announced today.

Instead, the group's directors will meet on July 26 at 8 p.m. in the Pacific Gas and Electric hall at Third and Brooks streets in San Rafael, she said.

"We just wanted to hammer our format details before we hold a general meeting."

Jail Sentence For Selling Stolen Goods

A 39-year-old former San Rafael woman was sentenced yesterday in Marin Superior Court to 30 days in jail for selling lingerie stolen from a San Rafael warehouse.

Judge Henry J. Broderick also placed Nancy Lee Gray, who had no previous criminal record, on probation for two years and ordered her to pay for however many items are determined to be still missing.

Broderick convicted her in a one-day trial without a jury June 28 of selling the nightgowns stolen from Dreamway Inc. of San Rafael at her place of employment, Ways and Means Inc. of San Rafael.

She was arrested in the parking lot of the company on Feb. 24 with some of the stolen nightgowns. A total of 113 garments were recovered from her.

Mrs. Gray said a neighbor, a former employee of Dreamway, had offered to split the proceeds with her if she would sell the merchandise, according to police who are looking for the man.

Mrs. Gray's probation officer said she was forced to quit her job because she was arrested and now lives with relatives in Modesto.

Quake Evidence Walk Planned

A guided walk to see the evidence remaining of the 1906 earthquake and along Woodpecker Trail will be held at 10 a.m. Sunday at Point Reyes National Seashore.

Anyone wishing to take this free walk with a ranger explaining terrain, flora and fauna, may meet at the Bear Valley parking area. Walking time is about two hours for the one-mile trail.

Air Show Nets $2,000 For Foundation

The air show July 1-2 at Gnoss Field north of Novato, netted approximately $2,000 for the Northern California National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, Director Benjamin R. Tankersly announced today.

The final figures may vary slightly, he said. "It is far short of the $40,000 which we had hoped to get. However, we got more than our money's worth in publicity for cystic fibrosis and Gnoss Field."

Welfare Mothers Win Leeways In Two Areas

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The State of California has agreed to end its drive to force welfare mothers to answer district attorneys' questions about their sex lives and the whereabouts of absent fathers.

The agreement was contained in a stipulation signed by Deputy Attorney General Elizabeth Palmer and filed in U.S. District Court. The stipulation was drawn up after a series of hearings before Judge Robert F. Peckham.

The order also said recipients would not be cut from the welfare roles when they decide to dismiss a criminal complaint for non-support against the father.

As a result of the stipulation some 750 women and 2,250 children will be retained on the welfare roles.

They were cut from welfare but reinstated last September when Peckham issued a temporary restraining order prohibiting district attorneys from requiring answers to questions about sexual matters.

Majority Of New Cars Meeting Codes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—More than 80 per cent of the 1972 model American cars being sold in California either meet or exceed state laws against air pollution, the State Air Resources Board was told in a report Wednesday.

L. J. Blintz, engineering manager of the Automobile Club of Southern California, released the results of a six-month study on 93 vehicles selected as representative of those sold in the Los Angeles Basin.

Blintz said 83 per cent of the cars "either met or bettered California standards for hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and oxides of nitrogen."

He said only 46 per cent of the new 1971 autos passed the same tests last year.

Blintz said 100 per cent of the General Motors cars passed all three state standards, compared to 71 per cent in 1971, and 79 per cent of Ford cars passed the standards, compared to 78 per cent last year.

Blintz said Chrysler Corp. showed the greatest improvement. In 1971, only four per cent of tested cars passed the standards, but this jumped to 73 per cent this year.

Blintz said 38 per cent of American Motors cars passed the three standards. Their cars were not tested last year.

There was a loss of fuel economy in the 1972 models, Blintz said. Matching pairs of 1971 and 1972 models, he said, the study found a 1.6 per cent reduction in fuel economy.

Tuolomne Man Given Sentence In Marin Robbery

A Tuolumne county man who admitted the armed robbery of a Corte Madera store has been sentenced in Marin Superior Court to six months in jail.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner also placed Philip Ray Talley, 32, of Columbia, on probation for five years. It was a negotiated sentence.

Talley and his brother-in-law, Leroy Harland Dorigo, 24, of Sonora, were arrested in San Rafael March 14 after the holdup of the Corte Madera 7-11 Food Store at 118 Corte Madera Avenue. Armed with a knife and razor, the bandits took about $283 from the store clerk, police said.

Proceedings have been suspended against Dorigo to determine whether he is a drug addict.

Cairo Paper Hits Nixon For Ouster Of Russians

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Cairo newspaper Al Ahram today described Soviet friendship as irreplaceable and blamed President Nixon for Egypt's decision to send home Soviet military advisers.

The semiofficial newspaper in a front page analysis bore the byline of "The Political Editor," which journalistic sources usually ascribe to Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, the newspaper's editor.

"There are only two super powers," the article said. "The United States is on the side of the enemy. The Soviet Union is on our side. Therefore, the friendship of the Soviet Union is not only important to us, it is irreplaceable."

President Anwar Sadat on Tuesday ordered the ouster of some 20,000 Soviet military advisers apparently because Moscow had failed to live up to promises to supply arms.

Al Ahram said that in any future conferences with the Russians, "We should state frankly that the result of the Moscow conference (between Nixon and Kremlin leaders last May) was the point which prompted President Sadat to take his decision" to send home the Soviet advisers.

The article did not mention Nixon by name.

In Paris, French Information Minister Jean Lecat denied reports that France might replace the Soviet Union as Egypt's principal supplier of arms.

A Jerusalem newspaper said today that Sadat contacted U.S. officials with the intent of seeking a reopening of the Suez Canal and effecting a political settlement with Israel.

PRIDE OF THE KENTFIELD FIRE DEPARTMENT

Kentfield fire chief Kenneth Kamp lifts 3-year-old Stephen Sutro for a better look at the department's new $65,000 Van Pelt pumper. The shining yellow vehicle can pump 1,500 gallons of water per minute, is powered by a 350 horse power diesel engine and has automatic transmission. (The department's antique La France won't be scrapped, says Kamp, but will be stored in honorable retirement.) The new pumper was ordered in 1971 and was delivered last week.

Fifth Game Under Way; No Cameras

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI) —The fifth game of the $250,000 world championship chess match started on schedule today—without the television cameras opposed by American Bobby Fischer.

Sources in New York said a tentative agreement was reached earlier in the day permitting the cameras to record the event. Icelandic organizers said they were 90 per cent certain the cameras would be allowed back in the hall for today's game.

There was speculation earlier that Fischer would relent in his protests and allow the game against world champion Boris Spassky of Russia to be broadcast on closed circuit television.

However, Fischer then issued 13 new demands, including a request for a new car and exclusive use of the swimming pool at the hotel where he is staying.

Fischer complained to the organizers about the polished marble chess board, built especially by Icelandic artisans for the world championship, saying he wanted a smaller board with less glare.

He also did not like the dark brown drapes on the windows in the hall.

Quick Work Done On Rohnert Park Budget

In its first session on the $1,176,647 budget for 1972-73, the Rohnert Park City Council zipped through nine departments, making no changes.

City Clerk Kathryn Logue said the council reviewed nearly half the proposed budget Tuesday night and agreed with recommendations made by City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan.

The public safety department budget totaling $195,314 showed an increase of $21,403 over last year's figure and brought council approval for hiring 3.5 dispatchers to do the jobs formerly held by cadets. It also included $3,000 to increase the pay for volunteer firemen from $5 to $10 per month.

The council also approved the parks and recreation budget of $283,448 for an increase of $179,651 over last year. In doing so, the council agreed to budget $184,050 to improve recreation facilities.

Other sections approved in the budget session were general government, $281,300; public works, $244,790; cultural arts, $1,600; golf course, $83,350, and health services, $20.

Prison Release Funding Defeated

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Tuesday narrowly rejected a bill providing ex-convicts with a payment of $350 when they are released from prison.

The measure by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, was turned down on a 40-25 vote, just one short of approval. Brown kept the measure alive by asking to have the vote reconsidered.

Brown said that currently ex-convicts receive $68 when they are discharged. He said the higher amount would help prevent them from returning to crime "just to survive."

Disposal Site Talks Continued

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District last night continued discussion of proposals to buy a sewage disposal site to a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in district headquarters.

Directors couldn't decide on purchase of the 60-acre Sharon property near Mesa, Brighton and Olema road. The Regional Water Quality Control Board last month approved plans for a sewage treatment system designed to serve 500 persons.

At their special meeting Wednesday, directors also will receive applications from area residents interested in filling the seat of Director Fred Wade. He resigned last night, telling the board he had "served long enough."

Public hearing on the district's $116,000 budget for 1972-73 will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the district office, 270 Elm Road.

1970 Murder Case Charges Are Dropped

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Murder, robbery and burglary charges against a Marin man in connection with the 1970 death of an elderly rancher were dismissed yesterday in Sacramento County Municipal Court.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Barley Bluel, who moved for the dismissal before Judge Michael Virga, told the Independent-Journal there was no evidence to link Charles Albert Harris to the crime other than a statement of an alleged accomplice.

At the time of his arrest in May, more than two years after the crime, Harris was living in San Rafael.

He was accused of the beating and robbery of 83-year-old John F. Wilcox at his ranch home near Rio Vista on Feb. 27, 1970. Wilcox, who had been strapped to a chair, died apparently from a heart attack.

The intruders escaped with a $5,000 diamond ring and $160 cash.

Bluel said the crime was the work of three men, one of whom was granted immunity to provide evidence in the case. Harris subsequently was seized in Marin.

Blaze In Mine Called Puzzler

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI)— The Bureau of Mines official who made the last inspection of the Sunshine Mine prior to the May 5 fire which took 91 lives has testified that he sees no way the blaze could have been anticipated.

William S. McCullough of Spokane told Wednesday's session of the Department of Interior hearing into the tragedy that he made his inspection in November of 1971 and "there was nothing in my report that could have been a possible cause."

He said fire protection measures by Sunshine were "adequate" with sufficient extinguishers and hydrants available.

Mill Valley Thief Gets Jail Term

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday sentenced Mark Bennett Keithley, 19, no known address, to six months in jail for burglarizing a Mill Valley variety store.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner also placed the youth on probation for five years and ordered him to repay $777 taken from the safe of Bennett's Variety Store at 19 Throckmorton Avenue.

Mill Valley police said the store was entered both on March 8 and April 14. Keithley, linked to the entries through fingerprints, originally was charged with two counts of burglary.

One was dismissed when he pleaded guilty to the other June 9 as part of a plea bargain. The district attorney recommended nine months in jail.

Police Hiring Freeze Linked To Crime Hike

BERKELEY (UPI) — A freeze on police hiring was responsible for an increase in major crimes in this university town during the last half of 1971, Police Chief Bruce Baker said Wednesday.

He said the hiring ban by the Berkeley City Council last April caused a 15.2 per cent rise in robberies, burglaries, and grand larceny.

Baker said there were 17 vacancies among the 235 positions for sworn officers and 17.5 vacancies in 62 civilian posts.

Before the freeze, Berkeley was one of the few cities of its population that showed a decrease in major crimes, Baker said in the department's annual crime statistics report.

Quake Standard Funds Approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly voted final legislative approval Tuesday to a bill providing local school districts with an additional $30 million to bring their buildings up to earthquake safety standards.

The measure by Assemblyman Leroy Greene, D-Sacramento, was sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan after the Assembly concurred 60-0 in Senate amendments. There was no debate.

Public schools are facing a 1975 deadline to bring their buildings up to standards or close the unsafe buildings.

The money would come from a onetime windfall in state revenue created by the imposition of payroll withholding of state income taxes this year.

Plans For Landscaping At Development Approved

The Strawberry Recreation District has approved the landscape plans for Paul J. Broman's proposed 72-unit Strawberry Cove apartments with half a dozen minor changes.

According to recreation manager David E. Roberts, the alterations in the landscape plan included the color of stone for a pathway, the removal of a deck around a proposed swimming pool, the removal of barricades and a chain near the shoreline and a change of planting material.

During a three-hour discussion Monday, Broman told the board that he will now carry his plans to the bay conservation and development commission for its final approval of his controversial project.

The project also faces a limited ban on new sewer hookups imposed on the Richardson Bay Sanitary District by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

The Strawberry Recreation District board also:

GARDENING — Hired the gardening firm of Cagwin and Doorward, of San Rafael, to maintain the grounds around the recreation center for 10 months, at $483 per month. Board chairman Carl L. Schaefer voted against the contract, saying local youngsters could be hired to do the work.

ELECTIONS — Passed a resolution moving recreation district elections to general election days in November, every even-numbered year.

PERSONNEL — Held a closed session to discuss the firing of a district employee, according to Roberts. Attorney for the district, Stephen H. Kaufmann, said the board merely reviewed the employee's performance.

Hearing Set For Burglary Counts

A preliminary hearing for 19-year-old Ronald Walker of San Rafael on two separate charges of burglary was set yesterday for Aug. 1 in Marin Municipal Court.

Walker was rearrested Friday on a warrant issued in May when he failed to appear in court on a charge of burglarizing a Fairfax home.

While being sought on the warrant, he allegedly burglarized the residence of Joseph A. Emanuele of 260 Canal Street in San Rafael on July 2.

He was arrested originally May 3 when a reserve Fairfax policeman found him and John Lauren Mott, 20, also of San Rafael, crouching inside a home at which a burglar alarm was sounding.

Mott is awaiting trial in superior court on the burglary charge.

Aid To Marin City's Jobless

By PAT ANGLE

To Nesbit Crutchfield, the unemployment rate is not just a sterile statistic.

From his view, as coordinator of the Marin City Employment Service, joblessness is an often tragic problem, with consequences reflected in the weary, disheartened faces of those who desperately need work but simply cannot find it.

"Not having a job is one of the toughest, most frustrating situations in our society," Crutchfield said.

"When it's very clear every morning you can't support your family, and through no basic fault of your own, it's easy to lose confidence in yourself and self-pride too."

The plight of the unemployed Marin City resident is compounded by the knowledge that he "lives in one of the most affluent places in the world," according to the 32-year-old coordinator who spent four years as an Air Force personnel officer before coming to his current job.

"All around him," he continued, "the unemployed person sees everything that a job means and knows there are many, many jobs in this rich county, but they are not open to him — no matter how badly he wants one."

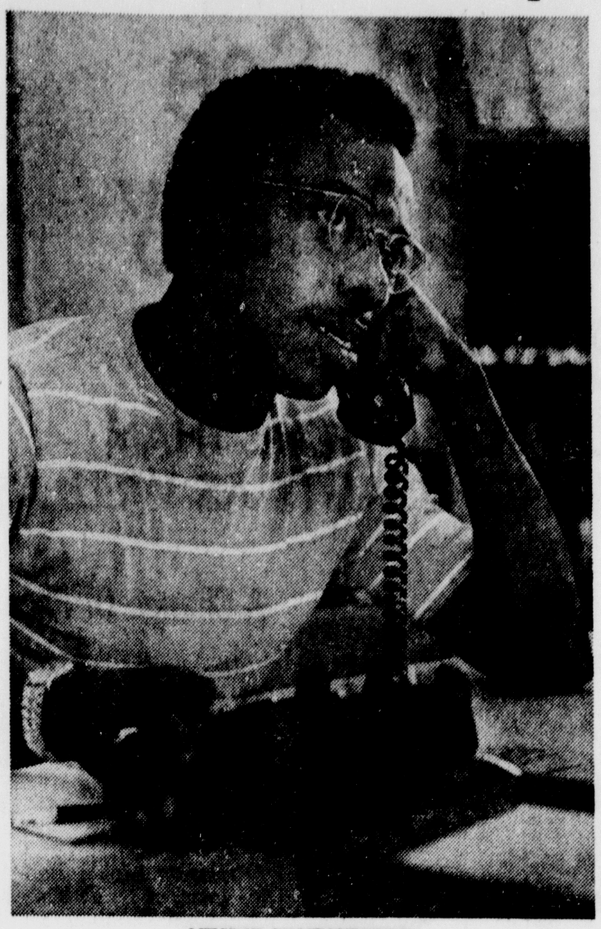

Since the service opened its doors in January of last year, approximately 460 persons have made their way to the unpretentious office in St. Andrew Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Don Schilling, pastor of the church, conceived the idea for the service along with Crutchfield and has provided the office and other assistance.)

The job seekers who have come reflect almost the entire spectrum of skills and educational levels. About 35 per cent are "hard-core unemployed — people who may not have finished high school, have an erratic work record and often possess no marketable skills.

Yet he said many of these so-called "unemployables" are actually qualified for jobs but unable to attain them for various reasons, including the stigma of being a black, Marin City resident.

Crutchfield is convinced that racism plays a part in keeping many black persons among the unemployed.

"The rumor is that people in Marin City are generally lax, lazy, undependable, unreliable and don't want to work," he said with some disgust.

NESBIT CRUTCHFIELD
'It's easy to lose confidence'

"I'd like employers who feel that way to step out a little and at least find out if the rumor is true, because I think they'd be in for a real surprise," he added.

To those who would dispute Crutchfield's words by pointing to the black persons from Marin City employed in responsible positions throughout the county, the coordinator has a ready answer.

"Most of the companies and public agencies who talk about equal employment want the 'cream of the crop' of black people and those are the ones they hire," he said. "If you're the cream, it doesn't matter if you're blue with green polkadots."

Another problem that particularly ires Crutchfield is the fact that many job descriptions, by their "irrelevant, ridiculous" requirements, often eliminate people who might be qualified for the post in question.

As an example, he pulled out a job description for a forestry cook whose duties are to prepare and serve three meals a day for 60 persons in a forest camp.

He noted that, to even apply for the position, one must have completed the eighth grade and have three years experience feeding 50 or more persons per day. Short-order cook experience will not be considered, the description states.

"Now why won't they give a former short-order cook a chance at this, since he might well be qualified to do the work?" the coordinator asked. "And why is an eighth grade education required? If they want someone who can read and write, well, why don't they just say that?"

In addition to canvassing the Bay Area for employers willing to hire his clients, Crutchfield and his staff of three persons provide job counseling and put people in touch with agencies or private industries which offer job training.

But searching for jobs everywhere — including calling firms in the telephone book and asking applicants to let the service know if they hear about openings — is a big task.

It's not an easy one, according to Crutchfield, who is now working toward a master's degree in personnel administration at San Francisco State College.

"Oh, I get discouraged about once every hour," he admitted cheerfully, "but I stay on because I really dig this job; I really like dealing with these people."

To an applicant coming into the office, the approach of the employment service staff is a personal, respectful one, often far different from what the same individual might expect at the huge, impersonal department of human resources and development, for instance.

"People feel comfortable coming here, because all of us (at the service) live in Marin City and understand their problems and difficulties," Crutchfield explained.

"We try to encourage them when they're down and they know we genuinely do want to help them," he said and added: "In this office we deemphasize that old class concept found in private and public employment agencies, that we're-helping-you-so-we-are-superior attitude."

There is no charge for the service, since according to the coordinator, "it would be ludicrous to charge people who usually don't have enough money to feed their families.

And, if a job is found, Crutchfield and his staff don't stop there. They also provide a follow-up on each person placed, checking periodically with the individual and his employer to find out how things are doing.

Since their service began, approximately 70 to 75 persons have found work through it and 65 of those are now employed.

"The success rate of those placed has been very gratifying," Crutchfield said. "Only 10 to 15 per cent of the people we have placed have been fired or quit."

Nearly 300 job seekers currently have applications with the employment organization which serves not only residents, but men just released from San Quentin and almost anybody else who wants assistance.

From its inception, the service has operated on a hand-to-mouth basis, with the approximately $1,800 a month needed provided by a few grants and help from Schilling.

But now the grants have run out and, as of Oct. 1, there will be no money. Crutchfield is currently applying for federal and state funds to continue the operation, but is uncertain if money from those sources will be forthcoming.

Naturally, he is concerned at the prospect that a valuable and unique service to Marin City residents and other jobless persons may be lost.

"If we don't find the money somewhere, then the people we serve will again have nowhere to go except to the places and agencies they've been before," he said.

"Those agencies have not proved very successful with our people in the past for various reasons, including lack of personnel, lack of interest and sometimes, even a lack of desire to help."

Nesbit Crutchfield makes it very clear he plans to do all in his power to prevent that from happening.

Preview Of Festival To Be Sunday

Soprano Gwen Curatilo of San Rafael, who has just returned from a year of opera and concert appearances in Europe, will be featured Sunday in a preview benefit for the Inverness Music Festival.

The benefit will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. West of 20 Tappan Road, Sleepy Hollow.

The major event of the festival, to be held Aug. 12, 13, 19 and 20 at St. Columba's Church and adjoining amphitheater, will be two performances of Mozart's opera "The Magic Flute" under the direction of Sandor Salgo.

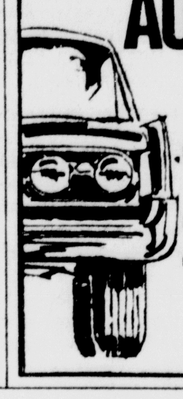

At the preview Miss Curatilo will sing the only solo aria of Pamina, one of the opera's leading characters, accompanied at the piano by Dale Cutler, and several other numbers accompanied on the flute by Joseph Bacon.

Also on the program will be the Mozart D Major Piano Sonata played by Nancy L. Bennett and Fae McNally.

For the reception preceding the program, background music will be provided by the Musica Dela Strada Trio.

ACLU Asks Removal Of Death Initiative

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union Foundation asked the California Supreme Court yesterday to remove from the November ballot the initiative designed to restore the death penalty in the state.

The writ of mandate suit contended that voting on the measure would be "a wasteful expenditure of public moneys because the U.S. Supreme Court already has ruled it unconstitutional."

The initiative calls for restoring all capital punishment statutes in effect in California before last February's California Supreme Court decision that gas chamber execution violates the state constitution's prohibition of "cruel or unusual punishment."

The suit contends that the death penalty has been held unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court in a decision handed down after the petitions for the initiative were obtained and filed.

Specifically the petition asks the court for a writ of mandate directing that Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. should remove the death penalty initiative from the November ballot.

Brown has indicated he plans to include it, acting on the advice of Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, a personal supporter of death penalty restoration on the ground that the state Supreme Court invaded legislative responsibility in its 6-1 February decision.

Indictment In Aborted Skyjack

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal grand jury Wednesday indicted Lubomir Peichev as an accomplice of two skyjackers who died in a blazing gunbattle with FBI agents at San Francisco International Airport.

Peichev, according to the indictment, was waiting at a remote air strip at Puntzi Lake in British Columbia for the hijackers to arrive with the plane and $850,000 ransom.

Michael Azamoff and Dimitri Alexiev hijacked the Pacific Southwest Airlines 737 jet with 86 persons aboard and forced it to land in San Francisco where the ransom was collected.

SNACK TIME means peanut butter and jelly sandwiches for (from left) Kenny Nicolas, Mitchell Barlas and Neal Bailly, who attend the Petaluma Children's Creative Co-Op Pre-School. The school, located in the United Church of Christ in Petaluma, is described by one of the founders, Vivian Meador, as a total learning environment. A kindergarten-first grade is being added to the school in September.

PETALUMA CO-OP

New Approach For Pre-School

By KAREN PETERSON

Tow-headed Sarah, splashing in the small play pool, greets you with a shy, curious smile. Around her the other children acknowledge the newcomer, glance up, then continue in their search for things that can float.

In the classroom, Cassie, one of the three credentialed teachers, and friends, sit cross-legged among the large, colorful pillows covering the floor. She begins a story, stops, turns to one of her listeners and says, "OK, it's your turn. What happens next?"

On the surface the scene is not unlike many other preschools. And yet, the Petaluma Chidren's Creative Co-Op Preschool is more than just a school. It is a total learning environment.

ENGULFED IN the magic of children's imaginations, the walls are a backdrop of vivid paintings. Standing there, solving the last minute request of a 3-year-old is Vivian Meador, a teacher and one of the founders of the school.

The idea for the school was an outgrowth of dissatisfaction with what she terms the rigid, highly-structured public school system.

"We wanted an alternative school that would stimulate creativity besides teach the necessary academic skills," said Mrs. Meador. "And all of this at a price we could afford."

The idea thrived and in September, one year after its founding, the school will add a kindergarten-first grade.

The idea of a co-op, where parents participate, was based primarily on finances. But one of the most important factors in the school's success has been the close teacher-parent-child relationships.

"The parents are a great asset," said Mrs. Meador. "Every parent does what he or she can for the school. They make most of the equipment for the classrooms. They donate their time, help teach and take an active part in their children's education."

"Most of the parents have a special skill or knowledge," she continued. "Some are artists, potters, dancers — and we utilize these talents through classroom demonstrations and teaching sessions."

THS INTER-PLAY will also be carried over into the kindergarten-first grade. In this way they hope to further a sense of freedom among the children, thus paving the way for the child's natural curiosity to stimulate the urge to learn.

"The children do sense a certain amount of freedom here," said Mrs. Meador. "They are not fearful of school and they do not hang back. They see the other children, the parents, the relaxed atmosphere and they adapt immediately

"There have been changes in students that I didn't expect and it seemed to come from the school more than from any individual person," said Mrs. Meador. "We try to encourage a child's individuality and respect his capabilities."

The curriculum will be parallel to that of other schools with the emphasis placed on the primary subjects of reading and math. But the school will not be tied to the same textbooks or teaching aides.

Exposure and learning through doing is a key aspect in their teaching methods. The students will take field trips to performances and art studios, such as pottery workshops, children's plays and even, as last year, an anatomy lab.

Nature walks will be frequent and will tie into science classes. Anything the students see or do on these trips will be incorporated into a learning exercise.

"WE STRESS making things," explained Mrs. Meador. "Anything they make or do for themselves is a learning process. Usually a child will put up one or two blobs of paint and walk away. Now they get involved. Sometimes they'll spend 20 minutes on one picture. Everything seems exciting, vital, to them. They spend time learning — it's a feeling of accomplishment."

The school, located in adjoining rooms of the United Church of Christ, has a waiting list for fall enrollment. Plans are being made for double sessions to accommodate the increase.

When the first grade class begins the school will apply for state accreditation. Already in process is a federal grant for low-income children, which the school supports at their own expense. They also have a work-study grant from California State College, Sonoma, which helps pay for teachers and aides.

They are planning to institute a program which is not to be a cooperative and will help the school financially with money from parents who can afford to pay and who are not able to participate in other ways.

With a smile, Mrs. Meador proudly confided that she recently visited another kindergarten.

"Any of our pre-schoolers could have gone there and been on a par with the students — a year ahead of time. That's exciting and even more so because the school was started on blind faith."

Ask For Cream And See What You Really Get

Next time you're in a restaurant, ask for cream in your coffee or milk on your cereal and see what you get. James L. Busey, a professor of political science at the University of Colorado, was so aggravated by what the waitress brought him that he voiced a complaint to the Food and Drug Administration.

"It is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain 'real' cow cream or milk for coffee, for putting on cereals. . . or even to explain to waitresses what real cream or milk is."

If the customer tells the waitress he wants cream, she is more than likely to bring a non-cream substance which, Busey contends, ". . . is misleading and unintentionally deceptive."

'Very Male' College Junior Has Complaint About New Styles

SUE AND HELEN:

I am just back from a California vacation and I have to say something that doesn't sync with a college junior — very male.

I saw more female bare backs than I really wanted to see this summer.

Why is it that girls and women who shouldn't, pick up on new styles first? (You saw the shortest skirts on Old Fatknees, and Droopyhips gets herself up in hot pants.)

But back to the subject — backless, braless dresses held up by one little strap at the neck. All I've got to say is:

Halter tops not for dame who flops! — HARVEY

HARVEY:

Your fashion "not" duly noted. Here's another:

Backless-straps only for fatless backs. — HELEN AND SUE

DEAR RAP:

I'm not into drugs, but I like to know what's going on. Lately I've heard about two new ones: sunshine and sopors. Are they replacing pot? — CURIOUS BUT NOT SAMPLING

DEAR CBNS:

"Sunshine" is acid, said by pushers to be a superior type of LSD — said by a former drug user friend to be: Dangerous, unpredictable — with LSD, you never know which trip will mess up your mind.

"Sopors" are downers: nonbarbiturate sleeping pills (Methaqualone). According to a recent wire release, sopors are a new fad at summer music festivals and they're hotter sellers than pot. They produce a floating, "out of it" sensation, which can usually be slept off (but not always). Habitually used with alcohol, they may cause serious brain damage. — RAP

P.S. Here's a letter we hesitated to print until we checked it out with a former user who says these reactions are possible — in isolated cases — if the joint (sometimes not pot but parsley) is soaked in strong hallucinogenic chemicals, such as THC and STP.

It might never happen to you —but it COULD!

DEAR RAP:

This is not a cop-out but a plea to anyone who has ever thought about trying drugs: DON'T! Too many things can go wrong, even with supposedly harmless marijuana.

My friend got me some grass from a dealer off the street. We didn't know it had been mixed with something. It was my first try, and I'll never be quite physically right again. It did something to part of my brain and doctors don't give me much hope.

Here's what happens: I never know when it will start up, but I'll go blind for several hours. Then the numbness starts in my legs and works its way into my face and arms. I can't walk or feel. I've choked on my own saliva because I couldn't feel to swallow, and I've come close to swallowing my tongue.

I've seen my husband break down and cry because there wasn't anything he could do but hold my arms down so I couldn't tear at myself when I get a wild flash-back. Once I broke my hand from pounding on the wall.

I've retched and vomited and wanted to die. I've trembled and cried and screamed until I've passed out.

Sure, this is that "one-i:a-million" chance. But as long as there are street drugs, it can happen. Don't take it! And if you find time, stop and pray for me, please. — SOMEONE WHO KNOWS

Reading Skill Requires Practice

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

This column is for children — and teen-agers — who know how to but who don't especially like to read books on their own.

Like it or not, reading is one of the most important skills you can learn. And I don't care what your teachers or parents have told you, no one really can teach another to read. Just as you can't teach a person how to walk or how to talk. You have to learn these skills for yourself.

Reading is pretty much the same. Adults can tell you if you are reading correclty, and they can help you learn how words should sound or what they mean, but the actual skill of reading — and understanding what you read — you have to teach yourself.

Suppose you set a goal for yourself such as learning to swim. Wouldn't you have to swim a lot to learn?

IT'S THE SAME with reading. You can't learn to read well by watching someone else read, by listening to stories or by watching television. You learn to read by reading.

But like swimming, it's extremely helpful if someone will encourage you and show you how to make your strokes. So, you need someone to help you with your reading.

Let's say you're 15 or 16, and you want to improve your reading. Choose a friend or your Mom or Dad and ask him if he will read the same material you are reading, such as an article in Popular Mechanics. Then ask him to test you by asking you questions.

Then ask him questions, too. Probe to find out if you have understood/the most important points, if you have understood the vocabulary, if you recall the facts.

If you honestly know that you won't do any reading unless someone makes you, then ask someone to give you an ultimatum or a reward. Ask a friend to hound you all summer on the basis that you will read one good book every week and that you will write a couple of paragraphs recounting the main theme.

Or, make a deal with your parents that you will not be able to take driving lessons unless you read a book of your own choice each week.

OR, TRY IT another way. Ask your parents to give you as a gift the price of every book you read with understanding.

If you're closer to 8 years old —and able to read this whole column — then you need to ask the local librarian to help you pick out really good books that are classics. You can still read "easy" books, but some "hard" ones, too.

If you're 10 or 12 years old and are having difficulty reading this column, then you'd better ask your Mom or a big sister or brother, or a willing adult to give you reading lessons. And then once a week pick out a good picture book at the library and read it aloud to your "teacher."

Don't laugh at this final bit of advice. Whether you are 8 or a teen-ager, you should take a rest hour after lunch and read for the whole hour. That's right. Wherever you are, whatever your activity, stop after lunch and read. Do it every day. If you have to, carry your book in a waterproof bag and read on a raft or the deck of a boat.

If your Mom says it's okay for you to practice reading just before you go to sleep, you tell her that's when she should be reading aloud to you. If you need to really work at your reading, remember that the best time is in the middle of the day when you're being quiet.

A Divorce Court Judge Is Married

LONDON (AP) — Judge Frederick McIntyre of the divorce court dissolved 18 broken marriages before lunch this week, then took the afternoon off to get married to a divorcee.

"He must know the pitfalls to dodge by now," said the cheerful bride, a 54-year-old social worker named Marjorie Bowman who was divorced several years ago.

The judge is 67, and it's his first marriage.

"I never married before," he said, "because at first I felt I was too young. And before I knew it I was middle-aged."

"We'd known each other for about 10 days when I said to her, 'You look after old people. I'm an old person — how about looking after me?'

She burst into tears and said yes."

Said the bride after the five-minute ceremony at a Registry office:

"I think it's encouraging that despite what he sees every day, he is prepared to risk marriage with me. I think it augurs well."

Old Point Booted

NEW YORK (UPI)—You've heard bald men are more virile than hirsute ones? That point was nixed by Dr. Edward Krull, a dermatologist associated with Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. He told a group of science writers attending a symposium in Chicago that there is no relationship between hair loss and virility. The symposium was sponsored by the National Program for Dermatology.

WINNING BRIDGE

Polish Team Begins Like A Champ From This Action

One of the surprises of the recent World Bridge Olympiad was the strength of the Polish team. They started out as though they were sure to qualify for the semifinals, but then dissension weakened one of the partnerships. Today's hand, taken from their early match against the United States, shows the Polish champions at their best.

SMALL HEART LEAD

Jim Jacoby of the U.S. team led the three of hearts from the West hand, knowing that South's bid of three hearts showed a short suit. Bobby Wolff won with the ace of hearts and returned the seven of hearts, expecting declarer to ruff.

South would have had poor prospects if he had ruffed the second round of hearts, but Janusz Pietruk was too shrewd to adopt this feeble line of play. Instead, declarer discarded the eight of clubs, allowing West to win with the king of hearts.

This discard of a loser on a loser was no mere exchange. South had given up a heart trick instead of losing a club at some later stage. But the play had a hidden benefit: Dummy's jack of hearts was now set up. Declarer got to dummy in time to discard his nine of clubs on the jack of hearts.

FEW PROBLEMS

The rest of the play presented few problems. South had lost two hearts but had no losers in the black suits and could afford to give up one diamond.

At the other table of the match, two Polish experts held the East-West cards. West led the three of hearts against the same contract of four spades, but the Polish East Andrzej Wilkosz) returned a trump. Now South couldn't find a way to make his game contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ - None
♥ - K 9 4 3 2
♦ - 10 8 4 2
♣ - K 10 4 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four hearts. This promises trump length (at least four, often more), not more than nine points in high cards and a singleton or void suit on the side.

NEW MOVIES

'Butterflies' Fails In Transition

By LOUIS SWEENEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

"Butterflies Are Free" was a hit on Broadway, so it flits into film with a happy reputation behind it.

But the M.J. Frankovich production, which stars Edward Albert (yes, the son of Eddie Albert and Margo) and Goldie Hawn is an awkward, bedraggled attempt at comedy.

Admittedly the situation is a difficult and delicate one to treat as anything but pathos. A young man, afflicted with blindness and a smothering mother, decides to strike out on his own. He takes a loft apartment, an ex-crash pad for hippies, and falls in love with Jill, his pretty, flighty next-door neighbor who is not "into" permanency: Her marriage lasted six days.

The level of the film is such that we're expected to laugh at Albert as the hero, Don, stumbling into walls or missing ashtrays, and to smile at Jill (Miss Hawn) in her unthinking use of all the synonyms for see. But it is not as gross in its jokes about blindness as "The War Between Men and Women," another current "comedy" on the subject.

The theme of "Butterflies" requires expert, sensitive direction and performances to succeed at all. But two people unequal to the task are the leads.

Albert is unconvincing and unmoving in the role of Don; he has an almost '20s romantic lead look about him which suggests Valentino and anything but contemporary comedy. It would be interesting to see what he could do, though, with a straight dramatic or action-adventure role.

Miss Hawn, the "Laugh-In" charmer who giggled her way into "Cactus Flower," trots around winsomely in her bikini and bats her eyes a lot, but her performance is only lip-gloss deep. She needs a really deft director to bring out the best of her effervescent comic gift, to take her beyond one-liners into a real character. Milton Katselas, making his first film with "Butterflies," is not that director. Although he directed the Broadway play, he seems to flounder in the medium of film, and the result is a flat, artificial situation comedy.

"Butterflies" does have one saving grace in the form of Eileen Heckart as Momma, a steamroller with a Saks shopping bag who wants to keep her son the perpetual "Donnie Dark" about whom she wrote a series of children's books. Miss Heckart is a superb actress who brings love and anguish and some wry funniness to this film, but they're about the only genuine emotions present. One butterfly can't do it all.

"Conquest of the Planet of the Apes" is the fourth in a 20th Century-Fox series based on Pierre Boulle's sci-fi story about how apes came to take over earth. The Arthur P. Jacobs series is the closest thing we have now to the old-fashioned serials like "Perils of Pauline," and it has a loyal and enthralled an audience.

In this ape quartet, the actors change but the furry, loping stars remain the same. Charlton Heston and James Franciscus have given way, in this new film to Don Murray and Ricardo Montalban, but the apes remain.

This time, we're not 2000 years in the future, we're only in 1991, before Boulle's thermonuclear explosion which destroyed the planet and gave rise to a mutant race of apes which later domesticated man.

In "Conquest" we're told that all the world's cats and dogs have been wiped out by a plague, leaving only apes for man to treat as pets. But they make such bright pets that they're soon turned into slaves, and a computerized slave corportation is set up: Ape Management, headed by Murray as the dastardly Governor Breck. Apes, chimpanzees, and orangutans are imported in volume from all over the world to act as cheap labor: waiters, messengers, maids. They are chained, separated from their mates, sold at slave auctions.

"Living Free" is a tedious sequel to "Born Free," based on Joy Adamson's popular story and film about the raising of a lovable lion cub named Elsa in Kenya.

With "Living Free" we're back in the African bush again, this time waiting for Elsa's three abandoned cubs to stop poaching goats in native villages and climb into specially constructed cages so that Joy and her game-keeper husband can truck them off to the Serengeti where they'll be living free, safe from hunters.

Susan Hampshire, who played Fleur in the TV series "The Forsythe Saga," takes her turn as Joy, and while she struggles bravely with the cardboard role provided her in Millars Kaufman's script, you wonder if she wouldn't rather be back with Glasworthy and the gang.

Library Board Approves Study

The San Rafael Library Board has authorized architect James Ring to begin an engineering study of the library building at 1100 E Street to see if it can withstand earthquake tremors.

"This study has to be done before we can proceed with building expansion plans," according to Vivian Smith, head librarian. The investigation will cost about $2,000, she said.

The board also told library staff to price microfilm card readers, she said.

The board next meets at 7:45 p.m. Aug. 21.

Lumbering Regulation Bill Dies

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The toughest of three lumbering regulation bills before the legislature was killed yesterday in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

The measure, by Assemblyman Edwin Z'berg, D-Sacramento, was aimed at filling the void created when a state appeals court last year ruled the state's set of lumber regulations unconstitutional.

It died on an 8-5 vote, three short of the margin required in the 21-member committee.

The Z-berg bill would have required a firm to post a bond each time it cut down some trees to insure that if it violated state regulations and refused to correct the damage, the state could use the money to fix the damage itself.

Neither of the other logging regulation bills include such a provision. The remaining two proposals have cleared the Senate and are awaiting action in Assembly committees.

The timber industry in California is a $2.3 billion operation with 100,000 employees and 1,250 firms.

The Z-berg bill had been amended in an effort to make it more palatable to industry, but timber spokesmen, the County Supervisors and Chamber of Commerce groups all spoke against the amended bill before the committee killed it.

The timber industry is currently operating under a set of emergency regulations adopted by the State Forestry Board to fill the void created by the court decision.

Emergency Pay Period To End

Workers who are now collecting benefits under the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Act of 1971 will not be paid for any week after July 29, according to Marion Skoss, manager of the San Rafael Unemployment Insurance office.

The emergency period began on Jan 30 this year when unemployment in California went above 6.5 per cent. The period lasts for not less than 26 weeks which ends July 29.

Heat Wave Water Shortage Has Ended

The temporary water shortage in North Marin caused by last week's heat wave is over, according to Eugene S. Churchill, manager of the North Marin County Water District.

Churchill reported to the district board Tuesday the district now has ample water storage.

He praised residents who voluntarily cut back on use of water during the days when storage dropped to a critical point.

"The response was tremendous," Churchill said. Water usage dropped about 10.2 million gallons below what it would normally have been, he said.

Directors were also requested by a small group of residents to cut back to 7 per cent all pay raises granted beyond 7 per cent.

Director George A. Amaroli moved for the cuts but the motion was defeated, 3-1. Board president Franklin Gustafson, on vacation, was absent.

The board also deferred action on a proposed study to determine the costs and methods of supplying water to a proposed marina and industrial complex along the Petaluma River, opposite Black Point, by Shellmaker Inc., since the matter was to be before the Sonoma County Planning Commission today.

A group of about a dozen Black Point residents opposed any study. Action was deferred by a 3-1 vote with Patrick H. Heffernan, who didn't want any study, dissenting.

Churchill said the study would cost about $1,200 and would be paid for by Shellmaker Inc., if the board approves.

The board adjourned until Aug. 1 at 8 p.m. at the district office, Novato, for its next regular meeting.

Plans Due Talk

Plans for late summer, fall and winter special events will be discussed at a meeting of the Novato Youth Commission at 7 p.m. Monday at the Novato High School cafeteria.

Two Counts Are Added In Marin Court

A 37-year-old San Rafael woman who had been charged only with armed robbery has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of burglary and assault with a deadly weapon as well.

After a preliminary hearing, Judge Robert A. Smallman found there was enough evidence to try Patricia Betty Knox not only on the felony charge filed by the district attorney, but on the other two counts as well. She is to appear in Superior Court Aug. 2.

The Municipal court judge also denied a motion to suppress the evidence against Mrs. Knox stemming from the holdup of two men in a Homestead Valley home in February.

The men, Richard Christenson and Gilbert P. Elliott, were threatened with a knife and tied up while the residence at 206 Evergreen Avenue was ransacked.

The robbers took a figurine, trading stamps, cigarette coupons, three coats and a brief case, according to the district attorney's office.

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, JULY 20, 1972 21

VOLUNTEERS — Gregg Wrisley (left) and Leslie Reece (right) work under the supervision of ranger Frank Herald, preparing the East Garrison section of Angel Island for the public. Miss Reece is credited with getting ranger training added to Tamalpais High School's work experience program. Herald said the work of the Tam students has made possible admitting the public to East Garrison next week. (Independent-Journal photo)

MISSILE SET FOR DISPLAY IN CENTER

A Nike-Hercules missile from Fort Barry near Sausalito will be on display from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow in the Northgate Shopping Center. Army recruiters will be on hand to describe new Air Defense Command offers to young enlistees.

A recruit who signs up for three years will receive basic training and then be assigned for at least 16 months to his choice of missile bases in the San Francisco, Los Angeles or Seattle metropolitan areas, according to spokesmen for the 13th Air Defense Artillery Group at the Presidio of San Francisco.

The recruit also may choose his job assignment, such as missileman, mechanic, administrative clerk or cook, the Army said.

Salaries Boosted In Reed Budget

The Reed School District board has approved a "publication" budget for 1972-1973 of more than $2.5 million, including salary increases of 5.5 per cent for teachers and 5.3 per cent for principals.

Dist. Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello said the salary increases for the district's 81.5 teaching positions and five administrative positions will cost the district about $58,000.

Business Mgr. Charles L. Condrotte was given a $2,000 raise, from $15,500 to $17,500.

Giovanniello recommended that his own salary of $26,000 not be increased and the school board accepted the recommendation at its Tuesday session.

In approving the publication budget of $2,561,439, the school board decided to reduce the unrestricted portion of undistributed reserves by about $50,000. That cut, Giovanniello said, could reduce the tax rate by five to 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Last year's tax rate, on a budget of $2,271,743, was $3.615 per $100 assessed valuation.

The board will hold a public hearing and consider final adoption of the budget at its regular meeting Aug. 1.

Petaluma Board Is Told Plan

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission heard a recommendation last night to split costs of developing Petaluma River Park between the city and Sonoma County.

Sonoma Supervisor Philip L. Joerger told the commission the most practical method to develop the park would be to divide it into two portions with the county developing part and leasing another section to the city to develop.

Joerger said the county has added $9,000 to the $25,000 already allotted for the park and has applied for a $25,000 federal grant. He said the county would fence and landscape a 3.5-acre section and put in picnic and playground equipment to be used by families using the adjacent city boat launching ramp.

Joerger suggested the portion leased to the city could be sublet to organizations such as the Little League or Soccer League to develop their own facilities.

Recreation Director James R. Raymond said the city would assume maintenance costs after the county finished its portion of the park.

Raymond said he and a committee working on the park plans would meet further with Joerger.

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission also:

SCHOOL YEAR — Approved a plan to sponsor recreation programs during the school year at three playgrounds. Raymond said programs would serve youngsters during after school hours and students on the year 'round school plan who have nonsummer vacations.

LUCCHESI — Agreed that more study is needed on a plan to develop Lucchesi Park. The plan, including methods of financing, will be considered at the Aug. 9 meeting.

BIKES — Heard that a survey on bicycle usage will be sent to all residents as part of a study on bicycle paths.

SWIM CENTER — Asked Raymond to prepare plans to expand the swim center to include picnic and play areas.

Two Visiting Judges In Marin Court

Two visiting judges took over Marin's Municipal Court yesterday because all the local judges are away.

Judge Albert A. Axelrod, a retired San Francisco judge, and Judge Joseph A. Weber of Mendocino County were the only judges in municipal court yesterday when judges Peter Allen Smith and Robert A. Smallman began brief vacations. Judge David R. Baty is attending a judges' school.

Weber, who began Monday, is to be on the bench until July 28, and Axelrod is scheduled to hear cases today, tomorrow and the final three days of next week.

Smith is scheduled to return for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday sessions and Smallman for Monday and Tuesday.

Court attaches said the void of Marin Municipal Court judges was caused by promotion of Judge David Menary Jr. to superior court after vacation schedules were made out.

Governor Ronald Reagan has yet to fill the municipal court vacancy.

Bagley Move To Weaken Tam Cabin Bill Killed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — An Assembly committee yesterday killed a move by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, to weaken a bill ending an exclusive enclave of 13 private cabins on public property in Mount Tamalpais State Park.

Bagley, acting for "friends of persons who have leases there," moved to extend the leases until the end of 1974, but he got only three votes for his motion from the Ways and Means Committee. The committee then voted 12-0 to send the bill (SB 682) by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, to the Assembly floor. Bagley joined in the vote.

Bagley argued the amendments would help get the bill signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan, indicating he had conferred with the governor's office about the amendments. He declined to identify who had asked him to water down the bill, a move opposed by Behr.

The assemblyman said after the hearing that because his amendment was killed "there is a possibility that the governor will veto the bill. I think he may be asked to by friends. I am not predicting he will veto it, and I hope he won't," Bagley said.

Renters pay $500 a year for exclusive use of the cabins in Steep Ravine. The entrance road to the area is kept locked to exclude the public from the state park property.

The cabins, on land purchased by the state in 1960, originally were to be leased for two years and then destroyed. But under legislation by former Marin Senator John F. McCarthy of Belvedere, the renters were allowed to extend their leases indefinitely.

Fund-Raiser For Boys Club

Novato Lodge 2041, Loyal Order of Moose, will sponsor the third in a series of dinner dances to benefit the Novato Boys Club at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Lodge Hall, off Lamont Avenue.

Roy Berry and his three-piece combo will provide music for dancing as their contribution to the club fund drive.

During the evening there will be an auction of surprise items donated by Novato merchants, according to Buell W. French, chairman. A social hour will start at 6:30 p.m.

TAM HIGH PROGRAM

New Way To Aim For A Career

By JAY GOODWIN

Happy with your job? Are you doing what you always wanted to do? Or did you fall into your present occupation with little forethought?

Millions of people who wind up in jobs they never considered in school often ask themselves, sometimes regretfully, the question, "How did I ever wind up in a career like this?"

The work exploration program at Tamalpais High School was established to make such questions obsolete by offering students an alternative to aimless, hit-or-miss career choices.

Under a variety of work experience programs, students have been exposed to the nitty-gritty of careers in medicine, law enforcement, teaching and government by working parttime in hospitals, police stations, schools and city halls.

This summer, a new career has been added to that list. Twenty-two students have been offered a taste of life in the park service as ranger trainees at Angel Island State Park.

Under the supervision of eight park rangers, the students work all day, five days a week, for two weeks, clearing debris, erecting signs, building outhouses, laying pipeline and generally readying the park for an endless stream of summertime visitors.

The manual labor is long and hard, but the students seem to love it. So does their boss, supervising ranger Frank Herald. "They're not doing anything our people don't do," Herald said. "We're not taking advantage of them at all."

The teen-age students spend most of their time remodeling the island's East Garrison area. Park officials hope to open the pier in the East Garrison next week in order to relieve the overcrowding at the island's only embarkation point, Ayala Cove. The students have cleared away burned-out rubble from old buildings and repaired the dock which Harbor Tours will use to drop off passengers.

Surveying the completed work in the East Garrison area, Herald admitted, "If I didn't have the help of these two work groups, the possibility of opening up this new area this year would have been nil."

Herald described his young charges as middle-class, well-traveled, broad-minded and nice people who haven't had much experience with manual labor.

They work with jackhammers, pipecutters and their hands, said Herald. But, more importantly, they work with the supervising rangers and each other.

Leslie Reece, a 16-year-old Tamalpais High student, deserves much of the credit for this summer's program. After listening to a speech by a parks department official encouraging "volunteerism," Leslie stepped up and suggested a student volunteer group for Angel Island.

Before long, the ferry was carrying six boys and six girls to the island each morning.

Like most other students on the island, Leslie joined to see if an outdoor career in the park service agreed with her.

So far, it does.

"I love being outside when I work and I like cooperating with other people. I've tried housecleaning, but working hard, with your hands is an awful lot better. I want to go to college next year; maybe I'll study forestry."

Another high school student, Gregg Wrisley, expressed the same enthusiasm. "I've already learned to use a jackhammer and a pipecutter," he beamed.

Program coordinator Peter Belden sees advantages beyond the obvious instruction in park service and power tools. He's convinced the arduous work brings out teamwork and leadership potential in many students.

"There are all kinds of opportunities that occur when we break down those damn four walls of the classroom and get students doing things," he said.

The students will only work four weeks this summer, in two groups of 11, but Belden hopes to convert the idea into a year-round addition to the school's other work exploration programs.

Equally pleased with the program success, Herald wants to expand it into studies of geology, history and biology on the island.

For the two weeks of toil and sweat, the students receive five credits. That's equivalent to about one extracurricular course, Belden said.

Special Smog Group Vetoes Crackdown

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — A special committee of smog officials yesterday concluded that a crackdown on industries that allow antipollution equipment to malfunction was neither necessary nor practical.

The Bay Area Air Pollution Control District's ad hoc committee on upset and breakdown, in effect, rejected a request by district directors that the committee redraft regulations on such malfunctions. The board of directors never has resolved how tough it wanted to make the regulations.

The committee instead recommended changing the language of the regulations to clarify them. The staff, which drafted the changes, said they simply would reflect what the staff already was doing to control breakdowns of smog controls.

The district's top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, acknowledged that "too much is unsaid" in current regulations, but insisted the rewording would "lay out what we have been doing." He said that toughening regulations would interfere with his need for "authority to act in individual cases — each case is different."

The committee's recommendation will go to the board of directors at 9:30 a.m. next Thursday in district offices, 939 Ellis Street. The issue has been bouncing between the committee and the board for 10 months.

The issue was raised last September by the Stop Smog Committee, a Richmond-based citizens group. The group's chairman, Katherine Lord, told the committea she will press the board again to make all excessive emissions violations of district regulations. None should be excused, she declared.

The staff proposal was endorsed unanimously by the three committee members present: Joseph D. Coons of San Rafael, a consulting engineer; Charles W. Graham of Pittsburgh, an officer of the Dow Chemical Co., and Ruth Church Gupta of San Francisco, an attorney.

As stated by Thomas F. Brennan, deputy director of enforcement, the committee's recommendation "really doesn't change anything."

Tools Stolen

Tools valued at $500 were taken sometime Tuesday or yesterday from Marin Metal Salvage Co. at 718 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, Joyce A. Thompson, an employee, reported yesterday to San Rafael police.

Synagogue Wins Suit For Fire

A Marin Superior Court judge has awarded Temple Rodef Sholom a $48,770 settlement against 22-year-old Steven W. Hall for a 1967 fire that gutted a classroom wing at the synagogue.

Judge E. Warren McGuire ordered the full amount of fire damage paid, but took under submission whether the congregation suould be awarded interest as well.

Fire destroyed the four classrooms at 170 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, and consumed more than $8,000 in furniture and religious books on Feb. 18, 1967. The congregation sued Hall, claiming he had set the blaze.

19-Year-Old Tells Police Of Stabbing

A 19-year-old San Rafaelman was stabbed three times on his left forearm yesterday by two men as he returned home from the grocery store, according to San Rafael police.

George Harry Joseph of 215 Bayview Street, told police that he was chased by two men as he left the 7-11 Store on First and B streets about 1:55 a.m. The men caught him at First and C streets, he reported to police. One man held him and the other cut him three times on the arm with a six-to-eight-inch switchblade knife, he told police.

According to police reports Joseph had three scratch marks about five inches long on his arms.

One of his assailants was described as five feet, 10 inches tall, thin, weighing about 145 pounds, wearing blue pants, a dark jacket and had neck length hair. The other was about six feet tall, weighing 190 pounds with shoulder length brown hair, wearing blue pants, and brown leather jacket.

Joseph said he had had an argument with one of the men earlier this week.

Innocent Plea To Possession Of Dope

Bail bondsman John Joseph Pecora, 25, of San Anselmo, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of growing and possessing marijuana.

Pecora, of Joe Pecora Bail Bonds, was arrested June 29 by San Anselmo police after they found eight partially dried stalks of possible marijuana in a van near his home at 155 Los Angeles Avenue.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

The Unknown Or Unexpected Fill Many With Apprehension

Few of us have the slightest qualms about things we understand. Only the unknown or unexpected fills the person with apprehension. For example the 10-year-old boy wending his way homeward along a lonely dark road will whistle or hum to keep up his courage. Silence can be deadly and at times, the sound of one's own voice brings confidence.

Now and then I wonder about the value of health articles or public discussions on various diseases. Are they harmful? Do they give rise to phobias or make people neurotics? Most of us find medical articles informative and educational.

The reports allay rather than create fears. The body is the house in which man lives and he must be willing to recognize its weaknesses and peculiarities. To wander through life in blind ignorance of the human machine does not typify intelligence. Let's learn how to recognize disease in order to preserve life.

DESPITE ALL assurances that may be offered, some individuals who are acutely sensitive to suggestion will develop a dread of certain ailments.

A member of the family or a close friend may have suffered from it. One 62-year-old woman suddenly realized that her symptoms of indigestion with pain after meals had persisted for several months. For years, she had read and heard much about cancer. One point that stuck in her mind was that it is far more likely to attack people in the later decades of life.

She was so convinced that she had cancer, she put her affairs in order and then visited the physician, prepared for the bad news. On examination there wasno sign of a malignancy. However, X-rays of the stomach elicited an ulcer. Following proper treatment, her pain subsided. The woman gained eight pounds and is certain she will live to be 90.

EVERYONE SHOULD know enough about symptoms so that he will not dismiss as trivial something that is important. Nor should he become a basket case over a minor abnormality. Anxiety is observed in almost every individual who visits the doctor. More often than not, the person can be told honestly that he is not facing a fatal illness.

MONTH OF HEADACHES

G. G. writes: What would cause headache that lasts three or four hours every day for a month?

REPLY

Migraine is a good possibility. The term, cluster headache, is used when aching occurs every day for weeks or months and then disappears for a long period of time.

WANTS TO BLOSSOM

Mrs. V. writes: My teen-age daughter is underdeveloped and short for her age. This is beginning to destroy her self-confidence. Can she be given shots to help?

REPLY

No. Vitamin injections are of no value and it is unwise to try hormones because these preparations disturb the glandular system. You didn't say how old she is. If tests show that further growth is not possible, she should accept her size and stop using it as an excuse for lack of self-confidence. Short girls are just as popular as tall girls and they have a much wider range of boyfriends than young women of 5 feet 8 inches and over.

No Charges In Vehicle Parts Pitch

No charges have been filed against two San Francisco men in connection with an offer to sell allegedly stolen auto parts to a motorist who turned out to be a sheriff's lieutenant, but one of the two now faces another theft count.

The district attorney's office said no charge was filed against Walter Frank Glynn, 22, and Douglas Anthony Patricks, 24, because the owner of the parts declined to press charges.

However, Patricks was already wanted on a warrant charging him with grand theft of a bicycle in San Anselmo May 18. He denied the felony allegation Tuesday and a preliminary hearing was set for the coming Tuesday.

Patricks allegedly stole the $220 10-speed bicycle from William Coleman of San Anselmo and tried to sell it for $100 at Mike's Bike Shop in San Rafael.

He and Glynn were arrested last Thursday after flagging down Lt. Richard Gaddini on Bridgeway in Sausalito and offering to sell him parts for his Porsche auto.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

Sharp Division On Tax Shift

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California's cities and counties stood sharply divided today on a compromise $1.2 billion property tax shift-school finance bill authored by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, and supported by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Lobbyists for the County Supervisors Association testified Wednesday that the proposal's property tax rate limitations were "unrealistic and unworkable."

Because of the tax controls, Alameda County Supervisor Fred Cooper said, "If the bill had been in effect two years ago,, we would not have been able to take care of our law enforcement problems."

The tax rate limits have long been insisted on by Reagan as a device to insure the permanency of property tax relief.

Richard Carpenter of the League of California Cities said the measure was "by far the best tax reform program we have been able to support in the last seven years."

Carpenter said that if the measure is not encted voters might approve the Watson initiative in November. He termed the initiative a "real threat" which would be "completely disruptive of local government."

The ballot measure would impose constitutional limits on property taxes and how they are spent.

During a two-hour hearing before a packed audience, Moretti told the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee that for seven years politicians had promised property tax relief for homeowners. He said that the question now was whether the legislature would continue to "flounder around" on the matter.

One change in the bill was accepted by the committee at the suggestion of Sen. James Q. Wedworth, D-Hawthorne. It would increase the business inventory tax relief from 40 to 45 per cent.

A vote on the bill is not expected until at least Friday when the committee will hold more hearings.

BART PACT

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Despite sharp criticism by one lawmaker, the Senate has passed an "urgency" measure permitting the Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) to renegotiate a contract to purchase 100 cars from a San Diego firm for about $30 million without calling for public bids.

"You're eliminating one of the few protections the public has against connivance," Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, said before the Senate approved the measure Wednesday on a 28-5 vote.

The bill by Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, would allow BART to renegotiate a contract with the Rohr Corp. of San Diego. The proposal now goes before the Assembly.

WELFARE GUIDE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Ways and Means Committee sent to the floor Wednesday a bill requiring the state social welfare director to submit proposed welfare regulations to the County Welfare Directors Association for advice.

The measure by Sen. Anthony C. Bielenson, D-Beverly Hills, passed on a 13-0 vote. It specifies that if the director does not adhere to the advice, he must submit a report explaining why he didn't.

The legislative analyst's analysis of the bill said it should result in "substantial administrative savings" by providing a county check of the workability of the proposed regulations.

RULES AGREED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Senate Democrats and Republicans have agreed to draw up new rules to prohibit the use of each party's partisan staff to wage election campaigns against individual candidates.

The agreement was reached Wednesday in an hour-long caucus of the whole. It came after Senate Republican leaders John L. Harmer of Glendale and Fred Marler Jr. of Redding charged that Democratic leaders unfairly used partisan staff in an attempt to defeat newly elected Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside.

DRUG TREATMENT

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A $5 million measure expanding methadone treatment programs for heroin addicts has advanced following approval by a Senate Committee.

The bill by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, was sent to the Finance Committee Wednesday on a 7-2 vote by the Health Committee.

Under the proposal, which has passed the Assembly, the funding would be matched by local governments. A similar bill was vetoed last year by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

FAIR SPRUCE-UP

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Cal Expo, the state's fair, would receive an estimated $350,000 to $400,000 annually to spruce up its appearance under a bill which has narrowly passed the Senate.

The measure by Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, was sent to the Assembly Wednesday on a 27-6 vote, the bare minimum necessary.

The legislation would divert funds gathered in license fees at harness race meetings at Cal Expo from the state's treasury and instead give the money to the fair.

KIDNEY PLANTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate Health Committee approved and sent to the Finance Committee Wednesday two bills designed to increase the number of kidney transplants being performed in California.

The two measures by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, were passed on 9-0 votes. Both have passed the Assembly.

The bills provide for establishment of four kidney transplant centers by the state Department of Public Health.

POWERPLANTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Two rival measures aimed at making it easier for electric companies to build thermal powerplants in California were passed by the Senate Wednesday.

Both bills would create a statewide agency to regulate the sitting of nuclear and fossil fuel powerplants instead of the current maze of local and state agencies that must approve the sitting of new plants.

Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, said presently electric utilities must obtain permission of about 32 different governmental agencies before construction can begin.

I.Q. TESTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill abolishing group intelligence tests in California now faces its last major legislative test after clearing a committee hurdle and moving to the full Senate.

The measure was sent to the floor Wednesday on a 6-3 vote by the Senate Education Committee after its author, Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, said the use of group IQ tests was a "relic and product of a pretty much racist system" of education.

Brown told the panel group IQ tests often are unfair, particularly to minority students and pupils.

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidant, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches, and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Test Tube Material Pays Off In Houses

By CHARLES E. DOLE
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

ESCONDIDO, Calif. — It won't even collapse in an earthquake!

That's what Joel Elman says about a new product which had its birth in a test tube and now is the basic building material in 150 houses on six housing sites from coast to coast.

Purpose: To show that wood and stucco and nails and plaster are as out of date as the passenger pigeon when it comes to building houses in this age of new concepts and advanced technology.

Elman is president of a small building firm headquartered in Southern California, about 30 miles above San Diego.

The company, formed a bare three years ago by an aerospace team and oriented toward the low end of the housing market, is involved on a massive scale with Operation Breakthrough, the federal government's effort to show that factory-built systems are here to stay and that American home buyers, had better take a long look at them.

Elman's company, Material Systems Corp., has produced a substance, essentially a plastic, out of the waste products of petroleum refining, plus sand and fibers, and is being used on the Breakthrough sites in place of the more traditional building materials and components.

The company also has developed a bonding substance which retains its bulldog grip in almost any test.

The idea of prefabricated housing is nothing new, of course. It was tired both before and after World War II and was a dismal failure. The static repetition of the same basic design, plus the fact that factory-built housing looked exactly that, militated against the concept and companies such as Lustron collapsed.

Operation Breakthrough revives the concept of systems-built housing for individual occupancy and 22 companies are putting up units on Breakthrough sites from caost to coast. Participating are such big-name firms as Levitt, Alcoa, General Electric, and fledgling Materials Systems, among others.

Elman talks excitedly about MSC: "We have twice as many sites as anyone else, with 150 units on 6 sites." Included are both garden-type apartments and town houses. Consulting architect in the design of the units is Skidmore, Owings, & Merrill, a giant itself among U.S. design firms.

Elman calls his firm's product "a radical technology," and reports that the formulas for the material were checked out by the Bureau of Standards, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and the National Academy of Science. The reaction "was enthusiastic all around," he reports.

"For one thing," he goes on, "we use waste products from petroleum refining, plus sand and fibers. Also, we don't consume scarce natural resources."

And at a time when lumber prices are soaring, he reports "the cost of our product is going down."

The builder claims that "a house of this plastic has a structural integrity 15 times stronger than it needs to be, "asserting that it is even safe in an earthquake. A structure of conventional design will eventually collapse if it is buffeted in an earthquake. "Our house won't collapse," raves the builder, but if upended, the house will simply roll."

How impressed the home buyer will be, no one knows. Other products and systems concepts are being tested under the aegis of the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Operation Breakthrough. Some may catch on; others will disappear. The idea is to show what can be done when industry is truly motivated and all stops are pulled.

Clearly, the stakes are high. The value of new residential building this year is expected to top $30 billion and well over 2 million housing units may reach the market, including mobile homes. Most of the units, except for the factory-produced mobile units, will be built in a conventional form, using conventional materials and conventional assembly practices. In a time of zooming costs, there has to be a better way.

Yet up to now even the factory-built housing has not appreciably saved money for the buyer. What he has achieved is improved quality, in many instances, because of carefully controlled factory conditions and good materials.

If a manufacturer could develop and produce a high-quality product at a substantial saving to the buyer, say 25 to 35 percent under the cost of a conventionally built house of comparable quality and amenities, the developer would get a quick corner on the market.

Of course, most builders today use many prefabricated parts in their product, such as factory-built wall sections and chimneys, door frames and windows, roof trusses and stairways. How many builders frame a kitchen cabinet from scratch? Then there are bathrooms and kitchens that can all but be drooped into place and connected up.

But there still is a long way to go to maximize economies in time and money.

Factory-housing firms don't face the nagging problems of building codes in many states because of the lead taken by California three years ago when its state legislature passed its factory-built housing law. The law provides for one inspection at the factory which overrides any local building code. Many states now have voted similar legislation.

Lurking in the way, however, are the zoning laws which communities can be expected to apply to freeze out housing of which they may disapprove, no matter what the reason. Too, factory-built housing often is equated with the old idea of a trailer park, even though the housing and mobile homes of today may be many generations removed from the sterotype of 20 or 30 years ago.

All MSC homes are built in boxlike units, called modules, and assembled at the site.

Elman built his first protype house in a circus tent on an Indian reservation a little more than a year ago. The company had 50 workers then. Today there are 270 on the job.

"The fantastic technological nightmares are over with now," he smiles.

What's next?

Well, he figures his job with the company now is over and he plans to quit when the company gets a strong president to carry the product from here.

A Harvard Business School graduate, Elman says he likes to be in on the development of a product but he wants someone else to do the marketing. "I know very little about land development, housing sales and real estate," he smiles.

He walks out leaving the company in gear. Where it goes from here is up the buyer.

Industrialist Says Tax Hike Necessary

WASHINGTON (UPI)—J. Irwin Miller, a wealthy Republican businessman from the Midwest, says he doesn't pay enough taxes and neither does anyone else.

Miller went before a congressional committee Wednesday to argue that the government isn't doing its job well enough and nothing—no amount of tax reform and no amount of increased government efficiency—is going to supplant the need for more federal revenue.

"You gentlemen are going to have to raise taxes," he told the Joint Economic Committee.

His contention was that Americans in their private lives are doing fine, with a steadily rising standard of living.

But in that part of their lives where they depend upon the government to do what they cannot do—everything from defending the country to delivering the mail—the system is falling apart.

"My kids have twice as many youngsters in their classroom than when I went to public school," Miller said. "Public transportation was better 30 years ago. The quality of air and water was better. Even the universities are going broke."

Miller is the chairman of the board of the Cummins Engine Co. of Columbus, Ind. Educated at Yale and Oxford, he has served on a number of government commissions and task forces.

"Taxes," he said, "are not 'bad' any more than the price we pay for anything we want and need is 'bad.'

"We complain as much about deteriorating services as we do about high taxes. Our wants today are very great indeed. We want equal justice available to every citizen without regard to his wealth, race or religion.

"We want continuously adequate transportation, steadily improving education for our children, a clean environment, an adequate defense, pleasant cities, superior health care and the rest of the services we expect from government.

"What we are reluctant to face, and what the Congress must face is that all this, even performed with ideal efficiency, is going to cost more. In order to bring our public and private standards of living into balance, you gentlemen are going to have to raise taxes."

Projects Alter Traffic Pattern

Projects in progress on Highway 101 which will alter traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow were announced today by the state Division of Highways.

Sections of the freeway involved are:

— One southbound lane in the vicinity of San Marin Drive and Atherton Avenue, Novato, will be closed from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. while a permanent detour is constructed.

— The southbound shoulder lane over California Park Hill in Greenbrae will be closed from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. because of a slide removal and prevention project.

— There will be occasional short delays on the southbound off-ramp at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Greenbrae because of trucks hauling dirt.

There will be no traffic obstruction on Highway 101 in the Waldo Grade area.

Plea Made From Single Taxpayer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Connecticut industrialist Vivian Kellems, who has been fighting the federal tax system for years, requested the full U.S. tax court Wednesday to review and reverse a ruling she claims discriminates against single taxpayers.

At issue in her suit was the tax benefit married couples obtain by splitting their income and the higher rates assessed against single persons. Miss Kellems contended the tax break amounted to a $300 billion windfall for the rich.

Crash Fatal To Ex-Marin Youngster

A former Marin couple now living in Concord remains hospitalized today in the wake of an Oakland traffic accident in which their 10-year-old son was fatally injured.

The boy, Keith Buchanan, died July 12 in an Oakland hospital three days after the family auto was rammed by a car that was believed to have been drag racing.

His mother, 37-year-old Betty Buchanan, was reported by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roni of Hilarita Housing, Tiburon, to be in "very serious" condition in Highland Hospital, Oakland. She suffered 12 broken ribs and a fractured collarbone.

Mrs. Buchanan's husband, Morgan, a 36-year-old chemical engineer employed at Allied Chemical in Port Chicago, was reported by the Ronis to be in good condition at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Walnut Creek.

A fourth family member injured in the wreck, 6-year-old Kimberly, was released after several days' treatment for cuts and scrapes.

The Ronis said the Buchanans lived in Tiburon and Mill Valley before moving to Concord six years ago. Mrs. Buchanan, employed as an in-service supervisor at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Hayward, formerly worked as a nurse for physicians in the Tiburon area.

Graveside service has been held for Keith Buchanan.

Early TV Star Succumbs At 63

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Evangeline Baker, 63, one of San Francisco's first television performers, died Wednesday of cancer at Mt. Zion Hospital.

Born and educated in Sacramento, she began her career there as a singer and entertainer, joining KGO-TV in San Francisco in 1948 before the station started broadcasting.

In 1960 she moved to KNBR radio and later worked for KGO radio and for KBRG.

Funeral services are pending.

Man Killed In Freeway Traffic

BERKELEY (UPI) —Harold Burton, 60, San Francisco, became angry Wednesday night when his daughter became confused at an on-ramp of Interstate 80. He yanked the keys from the car, leaped out into the path of an oncoming car and was killed.

Highway patrolman reported Burton was riding with his daughter, Mrs. Jacqueline Bragg, Moss Beach, when the incident occurred.

5 Drunk Drivers Draw Sentence

Five persons were sentenced Monday by Judge Peter A. Smith in Marin Municipal County Court for drunken driving.

Sentenced were:

Judith Ellen New, 30, of 23 Anchorage Road, Sausalito, arrested June 14 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $302.

Arthur Leroy McGuigan, 20, of San Francisco, arrested July 14 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $200.

Gregory Charles Ryan, 18, of 508 Heather Way, San Rafael, arrested May 20 in Sausalito, placed on probation for one year, fined $275 or must work 12 days for Marin County Parks and Recreation Department.

James Kenneth Tasker, 34, of 205 Channel Drive, Novato, arrested April 16 on Highway 101, placed on probation one year, fined $360, or must work 18 days for Marin County Parks and Recreation Department.

Lawrence Edward Casey, 38, of Alameda, arrested July 3 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $302.

Fourth Street Is Open To Traffic

San Rafael's Fourth Street between Union and Hetherton, which has been partially blocked for sewer construction for the past five weeks, opened this morning to two-way traffic.

portion of Third Street, from Irwin to Hetherton, has also reopened to traffic.

All streets are now back to normal, said Norris W. Rawles, public works director.

Union Seeks In Block Hirings

OAKLAND (UPI) —United Public Employes Local 390, AFL-CIO, has asked for a court order to block implementation of an arbitrator's decision on the hiring of new Bay Area Rapid Transit district employes.

Alameda County Superior Court Judge Robert L. Bostick said in reply to the request Wednesday he would not make a decision until an Aug. 1 hearing on Local 390's request for a temporary restraining order.

On June 20 arbitrator Sam Kagel issued a ruling which set up seniority lists for the transportation system. The union said it gave an edge to personnel from Greyhound, AC Transit, the San Francisco Municipal Railway, Peerless Stages and Southern Pacific if hired by BART.

Shut-In Dog Shot In Mouth

An English pointer dog, locked in his backyard, was shot in the mouth with a small-caliber gun, the dog's owner, Shirley W. Fiser, yesterday told San Rafael police.

Mrs. Fiser said she left the dog in her backyardat 142 Villa Avenue on Saturday and returned about 2 a.m. Sunday. When she got home, the dog was bleeding in the mouth. She took him to her veterinarian who said the dog had been shot, probably by a .22-caliber gun, she told police.

Neighbors reported hearing a shot at about 1:10 a.m. and the dog howl in pain, polie said.

Mrs. Fiser told police some neighbors have complained about the dog in the past. About six months ago the dog had been shot, but she had not reported it.

Buffalo Hunting Booted In Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Utah officials said there would be no buffalo hunting in the state this year because of illegal poaching.

A spokesman for the Division of Wildlife Resources said that 11 of the small herd of about 40 adult buffaloes were shot without permission.,

"We only issue 10 to 12 permits annually so this year's kill is already harvested," he said.

Buffaloes are the largest game animal in Utah and live primarily in the Henry Mountains in the southeastern section of the state.

Passenger Liners Ask For Subsidy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—American President Lines may discontinue the service of its two passenger liners unless it keeps receiving federal subsidies, a company official said Monday.

APL Passenger Division Director John Traina said the Presidents Wilson and Cleveland have been operating at a profit but they could not without the subsidy.

Traina said the U.S. Maritime Administration subsidizes passenger liners until they are 25-years-old and both vessels will reach that age next year.

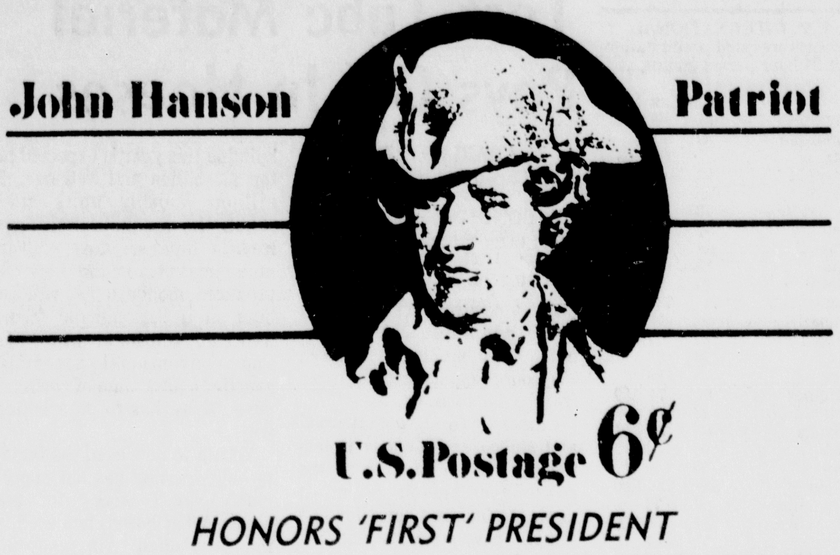

APL, he said, has applied for a continuation of the subsidy "but we are not too optimistic that it will be extended."

Local Woman Is Injured In Crash

A San Rafael woman was injured at 2:50 a.m. yesterday in an automobile accident on Merrydale Avenue, about 500 feet south of North San Pedro Road, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

The woman, Kathryn Reclus, 31, of 355 Canal Street, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple bruises and a possible fractured nose.

According to the patrol, a car she was driving ran into a parked car while she was lighting a cigarette.

HONORS 'FIRST' PRESIDENT

This postal card is the second in a series honoring colonial patriots and will be issued as part of the commemoration of the Bicentennial of the American Revolution. It honors John Hanson and will be issued at Baltimore on Sept. 1. Hanson was a delegate to the Continental Congress from Maryland and was elected to head the body. He signed himself "President of the United States in Congress assembled" and thus started the argument that he preceded George Washington as President. But the Articles of Confederation, under which he served, did not provide for an executive to head the nation.

School Bus 'Unsafest Vehicle,' Aspin Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., told a Senate Committee today that school buses were probably "the unsafest vehicles on the road" and that the government was doing little to require the construction of safe ones.

In testimony prepared for delivery to a hearing on auto and school bus safety, Aspin called for enactment of legislation sponsored by himself, most of the Wisconsin House and Senate delegation and 73 other congressmen.

Aspin's bill would require the Department of Transportation (DOT) to establish comprehensive safety standards for school buses, build a prototype safety school bus and investigate all school bus accidents that result in a fatality.

The Wisconsin Democrat noted it is sometimes said that school buses are one of the safest forms of transportation. This is true, said Aspin, but only because the buses generally move slowly, other drivers exercise special caution when they see school buses and because school bus operators are usually extremely careful drivers.

"But while there may be relatively few accidents with school buses, it is also true that the accidents which do occur are more serious than they need be because school buses are extremely shoddily built vehicles," Aspin said.

"Passenger cars are generally better constructed, intra and inter city buses are often better constructed than school buses. There is no question that far more has been done to assure the construction of safe cars than has been done to assure the construction of safe school buses which transport the nation's children. there is little excuse for DOT's apathy, and even antipathy, to requiring the construction of reasonably safe school buses."

Group Plans To Send Newsletter

The Belvedere-Tiburon Committee for Environment has decided to send out a newsletter to all residents of the two cities, according to Chairman Pieter Myers.

This first newsletter will deal with the use of chemical pesticides and give a report on the recycling depot, he said. The depot is open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. each Saturday and is close to breaking even financially, he said.

The committee set Oct. 21 for a community clean-up of the bicycle paths and beach. After the cleanup, a community get-together will be held in Richardson Park, he said.

The next meeting of the committee to plan the cleanup has not been set, he said.

School Panel Adopts New Budget

The Sausalito School District board last night adopted a 1972-73 "publication" budget of $1,198,096, a total considerably higher than the tentative budget of $1,136,425 approved on June 26.

The higher figure will nevertheless result in a 2-cent drop in the district's tax rate from this year's $2.995 per $100 assessed valuation to $2.975, said district superintendent Lawrence A. Lindberg.

However, because of increased assessed valuations within the district it is unlikely that actual tax bills will drop.

Lindberg said the increased revenue was derived from higher valuations and from carryover funds.

The extra $61,671 will be spent on:

Two doctoral students employed as curriculum interns — one to work with the reading and language program at Martin Luther King School, one to work in psychological services; on expanding the district mathematics program, building a kindergarten play area and a restroom unit at Bayside School, and buying instructional equipment for King School.

Trustees also decided to increase the district's undistributed reserve account from $55,436 to $68,793, Lindberg said.

The board set the public hearing on the 1972-73 Sausalito School District budget for Aug. 2 at 7:30 p.m. at the district office.

Fire Station Plans Studied

Novato Fire Protection District directors last night discussed possible floor plans for a fourth fire station at the Atherton Avenue training tower site.

Fire Chief Jack Kidder said various ideas were referred to department officers for comment.

Plans for a fourth station are expected to be completed within a year, he said. The board adjourned until its next regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Rails, Union Solve 'Featherbedding'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —the 35-year-old dispute over whether firemen are needed on diesel locomotives ended Thursday with an agreement between the nation's railroads and the United Transportation Union.

The agreement calls some firemen who were laid off under a 1963 order by Congress to be returned to their jobs, but the number of such jobs will eventually be reduced through normal attrition.

UTU president Al H. Chesser emphasized that none of the approximately 16,000 firemen now employed on the railroads would lose their jobs, and that enough firemen would be retained in the future to fill vacant engineer positions.

Chesser also emphasized that all passenger trains would continue to carry firemen in the cabs with the engineers.

Both Chesser and railroad officials said the agreement to settle the old dispute was hammered out in months of hard bargaining, and that it signaled a new era of cooperation between railroad management and labor to settle their disputes voluntarily without compulsory arbitration.

Chesser denied that threat of passage of the now-scrapped administration bill to force settlement of transportation strikes had any influence on the two sides settling the firemen dispute that dated back to 1937.

Firemen were used to stoke engines in the old steam locomotive but railroads began discharging them after diesels came in.

Agency Eyes Quarters At Northgate

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency last night instructed its staff to further investigate the possibility of shifting the agency's headquarters to a building in the Northgate Industrial Park in San Rafael.

According to Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, the office and warehouse space is currently leased by a pharmaceutical firm.

Due to complications in the current lease and sublease agreements, the agency decided to postpone any decision on the move until it could obtain more information.

The agency also asked its staff to submit recommendations to cut $34,000 from the 1972-1973 budget, following notification from the federal government that the agency's budget will be reduced by that amount.

Depository, JFK Death Site, Blazes

DALLAS (UPI)—Arsonists today spread gallons of gasoline across five floors of the Texas School Book Depository Building, where Lee Harvey Oswald fired the shots that killed President John F. Kennedy, and set the 68-year-old bick structure on fire.

The fire was confined to third, fourth and fifth floors of the building and was extinguished in 24 minutes after it was reported.

"It was definitely arson," assistant Fire Chief L. R. McCowan said. "We found gasoline cans on every floor and the smell of gasoline was all through the building."

Damages were estimated at $5,000.

Bound Over On Grand Theft Charges

A 28-year-old Sacramento beauty salon owner has been found over to Marin Superior Court on two counts of grand theft and one of petty theft stemming from the theft of items from a Sausalito home he was visiting.

Terry Tuey was ordered to appear Aug. 30 to answer charges he took a $5,000 ruby ring, a $300 diamond ring, a $200 gold chain and $40 in coins from J. Gordon Levinson, Larry E. Lenschmidt and Gordon Johnson Jr., all of 260 Spencer Avenue.

Finding Healthy Giants' Group Proving Difficult

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It's getting tougher all the time to find more than a handful of healthy ball players in the San Francisco Giants clubhouse.

The place, in fact, is starting to look like a disaster area, and the busiest guy around is assistant trainer Al Wylder, who should ask for overtime pay the way he's working.

Al Gallagher joined the "wounded" list Wednesday while the Giants were dropping a 3-2 decision to the Montreal Expos. Al got it in the throat when a shot down the third base line by Ron Hunt hit the bag and then got Gallagher when he didn't know where the ball was.

Gallagher has a nice bruise but should be fit to play Friday when the Giants host the New York Mets after taking today off to collect themselves.

Also on tap to play, if he can, is Willie McCovey, who stopped a pitch by the Expos' John Strohmayer on his right elbow Tuesday night. But Sam McDowell, the big lefthander with the bum shoulder, and Dave Kingman, the play-everywhere long-ball hitter, will have to wait until after the All-Star break, if then.

Now, that doesn't take in account Ed Goodson, the rookie first baseman with the .300 batting average who is playing on a knee that needs repairing, and pitcher Steve Stone, who has a sore wrist. Neither does it account for trainer Leo (Doc) Hughes, who is finished for the year because of a heart ailment.

Then, too, there is manager Charlie Fox, whose stomach problems have vanished for the present but are subject to return at the first drop of a fly ball.

Wednesday's loss to the Expos came on just one bad pitch by rookie reliever Randy Moffitt, who took over in the ninth after Fox dismissed starter Juan Marichal "because his back started acting up."

Ken Singleton was the first man Moffitt faced and the big Montreal outfielder lined a long homer to left to break a 2-2 tie and give Mike Torrez his fifth career victory over the Giants. Torrez never has lost to them and now is 10-5 overall for this season.

Both Giants runs came as a result of stolen bases by Bobby Bonds, who now has 21 thefts in 24 trys. Bonds singled and stole second in the first and then made it around on successive groundouts by Garrq Maddox and Chris Speier.

That run evened the score at 1-1 because Bob Bailey had homered off Marichal in the top of the first. A double by Terry Pumphrey and a single by Hunt produced Montreal's second run in the third but the Giants tied it again in the sixth.

Marichal led off the inning with a single but Bonds forced him. Then Bobby stole second

Bonds' Heart-Felt Thoughts Of Mays

By RALPH CHATOIAN

When Bobby Bonds talks about Willie Mays he does the talking from deep inside his heart. When he says the day the Giants traded Mays to the New York Mets was his saddest in baseball he says it quietly, but firmly.

Sitting at a table with Bonds prior to his receiving the "Good Guy of 1972" award from the Northern California Giant Boosters last night at Rubini's Restaurant in Fairfax, we talked about the disastrous start of the team and then the conversation swung toward Mays.

The day before the announcement of the trade Mays told Bonds he felt the fans didn't want him in San Francisco, but the fans in New York did.

"It's really a shame," said Bonds. "The people in San Francisco let a player like Willie get away from them. They never really appreciated just how great he was.

"I love that man. I'm not ashamed to say I cried — really cried — when he was traded."

BONDS SAID the trade made all the players uneasy about their jobs. "Juan Marichal was going to build a home in Woodside but he changed his mind when Mays was traded," said the Giants' slugging right fielder. He later told the boosters who were squeezed into the restaurant: "When Mays was traded I really wanted to leave San Francisco, too. That goes for a lot of us."

He said the majority of the San Francisco people who go to the games — goodness, not the rabid fans who make up the boosters club — are team supporters, not fans. Supporters, said Bonds, are three when you're winning, but fans are there always, win or lose.

Sharing the spotlight with Bonds last night was Giant super-rookie Garry Maddox who was awarded a replica of a cable car by the boosters — as was Bonds — for being the Giant with the most "pizzaz."

AND WHEN the two of them got together in front of the boosters it was like watching Rowen and Martin. They've got this tricky little handshake that takes about 30 seconds and 45 hand and elbow bumpings to complete and Maddox, who is second in the Giant batting order, likes to give leadoff batter Bonds the "shake" when Bobby bops a home run.

Maddox said he picked up the hand shake in Vietnam and gets a kick out of doing it during the Giant games. "The pitchers don't like it," grinned Maddox. Bonds hits a home run, I do the hand shake and then they throw at me. I'm trying to get Speier (No. 3 batter Chris) to do it so they'll throw at him instead of me."

Bonds and Maddox, as 1-2 in the Giant batting order, make up the fastest leadoff tandem in baseball. "We're capable of stealing 150 bases between us once we learn all the pitchers' moves," said Bonds.

WHEN SOMEONE threw out the inevitable question: Who is the fastest between the two, Maddox said, "I'm the quickest and he's the fastest." Broke in Bonds; "That means he starts off first but I catch him."

While the two of them were discussing Mays, someone brought up the point that if Mays was still with the Giants, Maddox would not be the starting center fielder.

"But I still have a lot to learn," said Garry, "and if Willie was here there would be so much I could learn from him. He would take me under his wing. He wouldn't be able to play every day, so I would still get to play a lot."

In the middle of the crowd of Giant fans were

REDS' SCORING BID FOILED

Cincinnati Reds' outfielder Bobby Tolan was tagged out by Chicago Cubs' catcher Ranky Hundley at home plate in the fourth inning yesterday at Chicago as umpire Frank Pulli looked on. Tolan had tagged up at third base and had tried to score when Tony Perez hit a long fly ball to center fielder Rick Monday. Monday caught the ball and fired a strike to Hundley in nipping the sliding Tolan. The Reds won, 6-1. (UPI Telephoto)

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Nick Wells is not going home to lose.

The heavyweight boxer from Hamilton Air Force Base is here today, waiting for a chance to fight his way to a berth on the U.S. Olympic team.

Wells and welterweight Jesse Valdez head a nine-man Hamilton contingent to the Olympic Trials, which got underway last night. Valdez scored an unimpressive and close decision over Army Pvt. fred Washington of Chicago Heights, Ill.

Other Hamilton boxers scoring wins last night included bamtamweight Ricky Carerras and flyweight Claudio (Chicky) Rivera. Favored Carerras defeated Ray Theragood of Santa Fe, N.M., while Rivera narrowly decisioned Willie Jenson of Reno, Nev.

Light heavyweight Chuck Bromley, light middleweight Frank Lawson, and featherweight Joe Rivera, Claudio's older brother, are other Hamilton fighters competing in the tourney.

Wells, a native of Fort Worth, is considered the only heavyweight with a good chance to defeat Navy quartermaster 3/C Duane Bobick of Bowlus, Minn., who has won 55 straight bouts. Among them have been four consecutive conquests of Wells. Bobick flattened Clifford Stephens of Newton Falls, Ohio in the first round.

"This time," Wells said, "there will not be a loss."

Valdez is considered to have a fine chance in the welterweight class, but his competition is stiff. The Houston native contends with Marine Sgt. Larry Carlisleof Cleveland and Navy signalman 2/C Billy Daniels of Detroit.

Bobby Lee Hunter, the South Carolina convict serving an 18-year sentence for manslaughter, fights tonight in the flyweight division.

Oakland To Visit Boston For Doubleheader Tonight

BOSTON (UPI) — After winning two of three from the Milwaukee Brewers, the Oakland Athletics will try to get chummy with that Fenway Park wall this weekend.

Boston and Oakland tangle in six games in four days to close the season's series between the clubs.

Disdaining the usual friendliness of the leftfield wall to righthanded batters, manager Dick Williams of the Athletics sent two lefthanders — Ken Holtzman (12-7) and Vida Blue (2-5) — against the Bosox in today's twi-night doubleheader.

PATTIN, PETERS

They will be opposed by Marty Pattin, a righthander (7-8) record, and lefty Gary Peters (1-1).

At Milwaukee Wednesday night, the A's got some timely hitting from Reggie Jackson and Angel Mangual to defeat the Brewers 9-6. Jackson drove in four runs with a pair of doubles. One of the hits came with the bases loaded in a six-run seventh inning.

SACRIFICE

Mangual tripled home two runs in the same inning after Mike Epstein singled and Sal Bando sacrificed and was safe on an error by shortstop Rick Auerbach.

Righthander John Odom notched his sixth win in a row although he failed to finish a ballgame for the 13th time in 14 starts. Odom gave up a two-run homer to Mike Ferraro in the ninth and was replaced by Rollie Fingers when Auerbach and Joe Lahoud singled.

Odom improved his record to 9-2.

BROWN HOMERS

Oakland took a 3-0 lead on two runs in the fifth and one in the sixth. But Milwaukee came back on a three-run homer by former Athletic Ollie Brown in the sixth to tie the score.

LAVER IN REDWOOD BANK NET

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rod Laver has agreed to return to the Bay Area in September to defend his Redwood Bank International Open tennis title.

Laver and 31 other players on the WCT roster will compete for the first prize of $10,000 at the Round Hill Country Club in Alamo Sept. 25-Oct. 1. Laver beat Ken Rosewall in the finals last year.

Kentucky Fried Chicken defeated Jolly Roger, 11-5, in San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league play last night af Albert Park.

49er Veterans Join Rookies In Training

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)— Thirty-three plus 38 minus 5 is equal to 66 and that is how many players the San Francisco Forty Niners had in camp today.

Thirty-three rookies have been working out on the University of California at Santa Barbara campus near here and they were joined by 38 veterans Wednesday.

Veterans traditionally go through physicals on their arrival, but this year's tests were the most thorough in the team's history.

An electrocardiogram was taken under the stress of running on a treadmill and most of the players underwent the underwater fat test which can tell the percentage of the subject's body fat.

Meanwhile, five free agents were handed their walking papers. They were Houston quarterback Rusty Clark, Cal Lutheran linebacker Sam Cvinanovich, Mississippi place kicker Cloyce Hinton, Oregon State guard Dave Nirenberg, and Jackson State defensive back Lee Triplett.

Brief Rest For Ali After Stopping Foe

DUBLIN (UPI)—Muhammad Ali plans a brief rest before returning to the gymnasium to prepare for a fall heavyweight date with Floyd Patterson.

"I've got to shake off this head cold before I can think of putting on the gloves again," Ali said shortly after stopping Al "Blue" Lewis of Detroit in the 11th round here Wednesday night.

CROKE PARK

Ali, 30, boxed with feet of clay in the scheduled 12-rounder at Croke Park. He did not display the fastest feet in the heavyweight division but elected to fight at close quarters for most of the bout.

The 20,000 crowd, which included Irish Premier Jack Lynch, was disappointed at not seeing a vintage Ali performance.

Ali came close to stopping the fight in the fifth round when he decked the 29-year-old Lewis with a left-right combination to the head.

PUNISHMENT

Lewis survived and soaked up punishment for another five rounds but the 10th signalled the beginning of the end as Ali hit his opponent with every shot in his armory. Lewis returned to his corner on wobbly legs.

Sensing the end was near, Ali came out dancing in the 11th and a straight left had Lewis going. Referee Lew Eskin stepped in and called a halt at one minute, 15 seconds of the round.

Ali paid tribute to Lewis for giving him one of his toughest workouts.

"He hurt me with a couple of shots while he showed just why all the top men have avoided him. I'd rate him in the top five," he said.

Ali said he felt "weak at the end. That cold nearly destroyed me."

38TH VICTORY

Ali, who gave away six pounds at 217 1-2, recorded his 38th victory in 39 starts. It was his seventh win since his loss to Joe Frazier for the undisputed heavyweight championship in March, 1971.

Lewis is now 26-5 in 31 bouts. Despite his loss he gained a measure of consolation in the fact that his purse of $40,000 was the biggest of his professional career.

Ali earned a check of $250,000 for his night's work.

Tennis Signups Set

Registration for the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department second session tennis lessons will beheld Monday through Wednesday from 9 a.m. to noon at the Recreation Center, 1011 Fifth Avenue. Sessions will begin July 31 at San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools.

Torrez ran out of steam and left after eight innings with Mike Marshall finishing up to gain his 10th save of the season. He also has won seven games, so that puts him right up there among the best relievers in the National League.

"It's a shame we couldn't get more runs for Marichal," said Fox. "He pitched good enough to win. Maybe the next time he can go nine and win."

Dodgers' Osteen Blanks Mets, 5-0

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

While most pitchers dread the thought of drawing New York Mets' ace Tom Seaver as an opponent, Claude Osteen of the Los Angeles Dodgers seems to relish it.

Osteen's lifetime winning percentage is only slightly above .500 (154-153), but the Dodger lefty has been looking like a Hall of Famer in his matchups with the Mets' ace righthander this season.

Osteen, who blanked Seaver and the Mets at New York 10 days ago, turned the trick again at Los Angeles Wednesday night by stopping the Mets on six hits, 5-0. It was only Seaver's fourth career loss in 17 decisions against the Dodgers and his first loss at Dodger Stadium since Sept. 28, 1967. Oddly, Osteen has been the winner in three of those four Dodger victories over Seaver and all three have been shutouts.

In other National League action, Cincinnati downed Chicago, 6-1; Montreal edged San Francisco, 3-2; Pittsburgh topped Atlanta, 8-3; St. Louis blanked Houston, 6-0 and Philadelphia nipped San Diego, 3-2, in 11 innings.

The Dodgers collected eight hits off Seaver in 6 2-3 innings but bunched four of them in the fourth to score three times and collected four in the seventh to score twice more. Bobby Valentine drove in the Dodgers' first two runs in the fourth with a single.

Osteen, boosting his record to 10-7, scattered six singles and walked three in posting his third shutout of the season and sixth complete game. Seaver, who has been named to the NL All-Star team, lost his sixth game in 18 decisions.

The Reds notched their eighth victory in nine games as Ross Grimsley tossed a five-hitter. Grimsley, who won his eighth game against three losses, got batting support from Tony Perez and Bobby Tolan, each of whom drove in two runs.

Gene Alley, Willie Stargell and Rich Hebner each drove in two runs as the Pirates routed the Braves. Nelson Briles went six innings to gain his ninth triumph in 12 decisions. Hank Aaron hit his 20th homer of the season and the 659th of his career for the Braves. Aaron's homer tied him with Babe Ruth for the most homers hit by a player for one club.

Yankees' Old-Time Power Display

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Yankees, who have put on many days for their old-time stars, staged one Wednesday for their old-time fans.

The current Yankees are a far cry from the American League majesties who ruled with an iron hand from 1921 through 1964 and a generation of New York fans has grown up wondering why some people call them "Bronx Bombers." The Yankees usually scrounge for runs these days and the home run no longer is their trademark.

But Wednesday it was as if the Old Babe and Larrupin' Lou had sneaked into the clubhouse during the night and suited up for the Yankees' game with the Minnesota Twins.

AMAZEMENT

With a crowd of 19,029 looking on in amazement, the Yankees erupted with an "old time" seven-run fourth inning, hammered out two homers and a triple among their 12 hits and walloped the Twins, 13-3. It was enough to recall former Yankee owner Jacob Ruppert's definition of a relaxing afternoon at the Stadium: "to watch the Yankees score seven runs in tha first inning and then gradually pull away from their rivals."

Ron Blomberg and Roy White hit homers, Bobby Murcer weighed in with a triple and the Yankees sent 12 batters to the plate in the seven-run fourth to take a 10-1 lead. Errors by Danny Thompson and Harmon Killebrew combined with two walks and five hits to produce the big inning.

BEENE

Mike Kekich allowed three runs and 10 hits in 6 1-3 innings to pick up his ninth win with late-inning relief help from Fred Beene. Jim Perry, tagged for three runs in 2 2-3 innings, suffered his ninth loss for the Twins.

The Oakland Athletics defeated the Milwaukee Brewers, 9-6, the Cleveland Indians beat the Kansas City Royals, 6-1, the Boston Red Sox clubbed the California Angels, 8-2, the Chicago White Sox shaded the Detroit Tigers, 3-2, and the Texas Rangers edged the Baltimore Orioles, 3-2, in other American League Games.

Gaylord Perry, acquired last winter for Sam McDowell, pitched a seven-hitter for his 16th victory for the Indians, who scored four runs in the second inning with the help of a throwing error by pitcher Dick Drago. Perry joined Mickey Lolich of the Tigers as a 16-game winner and is a threat to finish the season in the 25-victory class. Frank Duffy, also acquired in the McDowell deal, led the Indians' 12-hit attack with a triple, double and single.

DISTANCE

The Red Sox ran their winning streak to four games as Carlton Fisk hit a three-run homer and Tommy Harper and Doug Griffin each drove in two runs with a double. Fisk's 15th homer of the season came with Carl Yastrzemski and Reggie Smith aboard in the fifth inning and increased the Red Sox' lead to 6-3. Lynn McGlothen went the distance for the Red Sox for his third win while Clyde Wright suffered the loss for the Angels.

Rick Reichardt's two homers drove in the White Sox' three runs and enabled Wilbur Wood to post his 14th win against 10 losses. Wood was yanked after giving up a double to Ed Brinkman and a walk to open the eighth and Terry Forster stopped the Tigers on one hit the rest of the way. Fred Scherman was the loser.

Rich Billings' two-run single in the eighth inning, following two walks and an error, lifted the Rangers to their victory over the Orioles. The Rangers scored their other run in the fourth on Ted Ford's homer as they dealt Mike Cuellar his eighth loss against eight victories. Bob Grich and Brooks Robinson had two hits each for the Orioles.

Fuentes' Grand Slam Ended Fryman Deal

Tito Fuentes did more than beat the Phillies when he hit his first major league grand slam home run. Tito's slammer nixed a possible deal between the Giants and Phillies for Woody Fryman.

Fryman was being showcased for Horace Stoneham when the Phillies and Giants met in their 1972 finale last Sunday and Tito tagged the southpaw for the slam.

FRYMAN WASN'T scheduled to start the game but Paul Owens obligingly switched from Billy Champion when he learned the Giants were interested in Fryman. At least, one Giant scout was interested and sent a favorable report to Stoneham on Fryman.

"I'd like to deal with the Giants," said Owens who has been shaking up the Phillies since he succeeded John Quinn as the team's general manager and became field manager, too, with the firing of Frank Lucchesi.

Owens isn't the only fellow who'd like to deal with the Giants, who haven't had much luck in recent player swaps.

THE ONLY REASON Stoneham and his entire front office staff took a hard look at Fryman was the need of a bullpen southpaw by the Giants. Fryman's major league ERA of close to 4.00 and his 60-69 record over the past seven years doesn't command favorable attention.

Nevertheless, Stoneham recieved a report from one of his scouts who said he liked the way Fryman threw the ball. So Stoneham, a tolerant man, agreed to take a look at Fryman himself. What the president of the Giants saw last Sunday in Candlestick couldn't have tempted him to make inquiries about Fryman's availability.

IT WASN'T just a case of Fuentes' slammer. Fryman, a control pitcher, walked two men and hit another. And he committed a balk. Not an impressive showcase performance. And Fryman's 3-10 record with the Phillies this year, notwithstanding their plunge into the National League East cellar, isn't an impressive set of credentials.

Stoneham must wonder from time to time about the conflicting reports he receives. Still, he has never been known to second guess a deal that turned sour.

The fact that the Giants presently are without a southpaw in the bullpen is of no immediate concern since this turned into a building-for-next-year season for the Giants.

ACTUALLY, STONEHAM is delighted with the way the southpaw bullpen vacancy came about. Ron Bryant pitched his way out of the bullpen and now is the most consistent starter on the pitching staff.

Ultimately, however, the Giants must come up with another lefthander for the bullpen. That's why Stoneham took a look at Fryman. He'll be looking at other southpaws from now on.

Palmer Is Golf Choice

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Before almost every tournament in which he plays, Arnold Palmer symbolically is listed among the favorites, the folks who pick the favorites perhaps forgetting that the Palmer of 42 is not the Palmer of 32.

But there was sound reasoning for Palmer's favorite status in the American Golf Classic, which began today, because of his history of playing so well at Firestone Country Club.

Palmer, still looking for his first victory of 1972, has finished in the top 10 in seven of nine previous Classic appearances on the 7,180 yard, par-70 Firestone South Course, and is the tournament's only two-time champion.

A week ago, the rest of Palmer's summer was in doubt when he suffered from a severe muscle spasm in the British Open, but he played the final 36 holes there two-under-par despite the ailment and has been at home in Latrobe, Pa., taking heat treatments all week.

This week's competition might be the lightest of the summer tour, or at least what is left of it, since Lee Trevino, Jack Nicklaus and Tony Jacklin all are resting following the hair-raising finish to the British Open, and Gary Player and Billy Casper are just taking a week off.

TREVINO TALKS GOLF

Another Hustle

By LEE TREVINO

Naw, not MY kind of hustle. I mean playing faster to help you relax under pressure. That doesn't mean walking faster. I may look like a cross between a Mexican chihuahua and a greyhound out there, but it's my natural speed.

When tension rises it helps to play faster. That doesn't mean rushing your club selection, either. Just don't stand over the ball so long.

When a guy stands over his ball 40 seconds, his muscles either draw up like smokehouse jerky or he gets brainlock. Study long and you study wrong. I think John Greenleaf Trevino said that first.

If you never choked when the heat was on, you never played my kind of game. And when you're tense, the less you think about a shot the better off you are.

So if you're getting tense, hustle up.

MINOR LEAGUE REPORT

Good Week For Corder, Not So Good For Others

Tom Corder found his batting touch last week, but everybody else lost theirs, and on the whole it was a glum week for Marin County's minor league baseball players.

Corder stroked five hits in 13 times at bat and knocked in three runs for the Los Angeles Dodgers' Bakersfield farm team in the Class A California League.

The former Novato High star now has a .257 batting average for the season, according to Player Periscope statistical service of Novato.

John Dolinsek of Novato, who started like a house afire for Peninsula in the Class AAA International League, cooled off with seven hits in 28 at-bats, and his average for the Montreal Expos' farm club dropped to .293.

Novato's Tom Thomas could manage just four safeties in 23 tries for the Class A Gastonia, N.C., team in the Western Carolinas League. Among them was his first home run, but the Pittsburgh Pirate farmhand saw his average slip to .255.

The three rookie professionals from Marin fared no better.

Mike Parnow of Fairfax and College of Marin went five-for-23 with Spokane, Wash., in the Class A Northwest League, but his season average stayed low at .195. The Dodger property leads the league in triples with four.

Al Curtiss of Fairfax and Drake High School got five hits in 28 times up and his average shrank to .228 for Coos Bay, Ore., in the Northwest League, an Oakland A's farm.

Clifford Hall of Marin City and Tamalpais High scraped out two hits in 12-at bats and is currently hitting .160 for the Chicago Cubs' Rookie League team in Gulf Coast, Fla.

It was down week for Marin's lone minor league pitcher as well. Plagued by lack of control and surrendering nine walks in two appearances covering 11 innings, Russ Dillon of Novato absorbed his sixth defeat against three victories for the Atlanta Braves' Class AAA farm at Richmond, Va.

She has seen all but 11 of the Expos' home games during the four years the team has been in existence. And she's also the aunt of Carol Vadnais, the former California Seal Hockey star who was traded to Boston last year. Also there was Jack Giulinani, a fun-loving sort, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Steinman. San Rafael Nine Tips Marinwood In Seniors Loop

A three-run explosion in the last of the seventh carried San Rafael to an 8-7 in over Marinwood yesterday in a Senior League tournament baseball game at Hamilton Air Force Base.

All three runs came with two out as the Marinwood pitcher walked one run across, a handcuffing liner by San Rafael's Fred Hurst was too much for the losers second sacker and before he could recover two runs scored.

San Rafael took a 4-1 lead in the bottom of the third on the strength of Kevin Laughlin's three-run homer and added another run in the fourth on Laughlin's second round tripper.

But Marinwood came back with three runs in both the fifth and sixth innings to go ahead 7-5 to set up the final frame excitement.

Marinwood pitcher deMattei hit a three-run homer to spark the losers rally.

The final smash by Hurst came with a 3-2 count and all runners moving. He also had the winning hit in San Rafael's opening round win.

David Steele went the distance to take the win for San Rafael.

In today's action, Fairfax takes on Hamilton-Loma Verde in a 6 p.m. contest at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Raiders Obtain Rookie Tackle For Draft Pick

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—The Oakland Raiders have obtained rookie offensive tackle Jay Anderson of Mayville State in North Dakota from the Los Angeles Rams for a future draft pick.

Anderson was obtained Wednesday since the Raiders are still negotiating with touted rookie John Vella from USC. Veterans Bob Brown, Art Shell and Ron Mix are also on the Raiders roster.

Veteran center Jim Otto, who has been a Raider as long as the Raiders have been a team, had been given permission to arrive in camp a week late. But he couldn't wait and was on hand for Wednesday's drills at the team's Santa Rosa training camp.

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Trader Allen At It Again—With Rams

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

George Allen is at it again.

Allen, coach of the Washington Redskins, built his team into a National Football League contender last season with a series of trades, most of which were conducted with his old team, the Los Angeles Rams.

Apparently convinced that the Rams boast some of the finest talent in the NFL, Allen is anxious to get all the material Los Angeles is willing to give up. And that's why kick return specialist Alvin Haymond today is a member of the Redskins.

ACQUISITION

Haymond, 30, an eight-year veteran of the NFL, was acquired Wednesday by the Redskins in exchange for a future draft choice. If Haymond can regain his old form the deal looks like a good one for the 'Skins. Haymond had two of his best years in 1969 and 1970 under Allen. In 1969 he led the league in punt returns with a 13.2 average.

Last season Haymond was bothered by a pulled hamstring and a torn bicep and missed the final four games of the season. He underwent surgery last January.

The acquisition of Haymond no doubt was provoked by the continued absenteeism of star punt returner Speedy Duncan. Duncan failed to check into the Redskins' Carlisle, Pa., camp for the third day in a row and his fines now total $300.

STINCIC

Tom Stincic, a backup middle linebacker for the Dallas Cowboys, left summer camp to return to Dallas, explaining to club officials he did not wish to play if he could not start.

The New England Patriots engineered a trade, sending linebacker Bill Atessis to the St. Louis Cardinals for an undisclosed draft choice. Atessis had left the Patriots' training camp earlier this week.

PHYSICAL

Running back Leroy Sledge, a part time starter last season, flunked his physical with the Houston Oilers and left training camp. Sledge, 6-foot-3, weighed in at 265 pounds. Last year he played at 230. The Oilers also announced the signing of free safety Ken Houston.

Bill Thomas, the Dallas Cowboys' No. 1 draft pick, showed up at training camp even though he has not signed a contract. A spokesman for the team said that Thomas, a running back, was close to signing.

Novato Post Takes On Vallejo Legion Nine

Novato Post 540 will take on Vallejo Post 550 tomorrow in a 5:15 contest at Foley Park to decide the second half champion of the District 5 American Legion baseball loop.

The winner will play a three game series with first-half champ Petaluma over the weekend to decide the league's representative to the Area One tournament.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Debt Security Has Good Possibility

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are interested in investing $35,000 in high-grade bonds which will yield more than we get in the bank. — E.B. & K.M.

A. A relatively new type of debt security backed by the Government National Mortgage Association would be appropriate for both readers. Since this agency began issuing these modified pass-through securities early in 1970, more than $4 billion have been sold to institutional and individual investors.

In order to interest private investors, many of the larger national retail brokers have reduced from $100,000 to $25,000 the minimum amount required for purchase.

The securities represent a pooling of mortgages backed by the FHA, VA and other government financed housing programs. While these mortgages are written for 30 years, the average life is about 12 years.

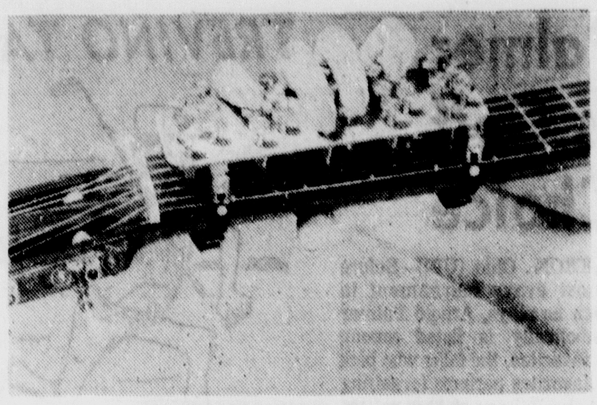

Investors receive interest and principal payments monthly. If any prepayments have accrued, these are distributed on a monthly basis as well. Interest is not exempt from federal income, estate or gift taxes. There is an active secondary or resale market in these securities.

Q. I hold 100 shares of Rex-Noreco bought in March 1971 at 18¾. Recently earnings have suffered from dilution and the company is planning a $20 million bond offering. I would think that the bonds at 7 percent or 8 percent would benefit company operations and I am considering adding to my shares. Is this reasoning sound? — J.S.

A. This company is in the business of financing mobile homes and retail financing of dealers. Thus the differnece between interest paid and interest received constitutes income. Since Rex-Noreco had no long-term debt previously, this offering will not unbalance their conservative capital structure.

In the April quarter, third period in the company's fiscal year, earnings were 19 cents a share versus 14 cents. Company is expanding rapidly its total involvement in the mobile home field.

Insurance and mobile home park developments are provided by the company as well as financing dealer inventory and arranging loans for buyers. ASE shares are reasonably priced for long-term gains.

EASY GUITAR PLAYING

The Guitarine, a new educational accessory which speeds up and improves the learning of guitar playing, is being distributed by Noblart Company, 5151 Carol Avenue, Skokie, Ill., 60076. It fits a guitar or banjo in a few seconds, with only two straps to attach. Instead of using fingers to press the strings, a light touch of buttons does the trick.

Government Bureau Monitors Accident

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nearly every piece of furniture and every gadget in the average home contains booby traps both for the family that uses it and the company that made it.

This melancholy fact is the reason for the federal government's home accident early warning system, actually called the National Electronic Injury Surveillance System. It gathers data from hundreds of hospitals about home, playground and street accidents to be tabulated daily in Washington by the Food and Drug Administration's Bureau of Product Safety.

The idea is to make recommendations for product modifications that will reduce the toll of 20 million home, playground and street accidents each year, the most numerous victims of which are children.

Although the electronic early warning system has been in effect only a few months, it has provided reports on thousands of accidents to the Bureau of Product Safety. Of course the bureau has been engaged in this kind of research for years and has negotiated many changes in product design on the basis of the thousands of accident reports. The daily electronic surveillance network speeds up and widens the process.

For example, MacNeal Memorial Hospital in Berwyn, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, sent the bureau 1,700 reports on accidents involving consumer products within eight months of joining the network. This hospital's experience disclosed the interesting fact that most such accidents occur between 4 p.m. and 7 p.m., and there are more accidents on Wednesday, the day when few doctors are available in their offices in the Chicago area.

The Bureau of Product Safety follows up the reports by consultations with manufacturers of the devices involved and by research of its own. During 1972 about 36,000 such accidents actually will be investigated.

The studies have produced a number of recommendations for product changes within recent months. Bicycle accidents are one of the most common causes of injuries to children. A study at Lutheran Hospital at Park Ridge, Ill., showed 64 children cut by the knifelike action of the spokes of bicycle wheels in a two-month period last summer.

On the basis of this and other reports, the Bureau of Product Safety urged that children's bikes have wheels with shielded spokes, a practice followed in Europe.

Another regulation growing out of the accident reports is for closer spacing of crib slats so babies can't get their heads between them.

Numerous recommendations have been made for improvements in playground equipment to keep children from being bruised or even strangeld by catching their clothes on bolts or handrails or fingers in the chain linkage of swings.

Many concerned modification of knobs and switches so gas and electric stoves, mixers, vaporizers and other potentially lethal appliances could not be turned on accidentally just by brushing against them.

Prices Moving Lower With Moderate Trade

NEW YORK (UPI)—After opening mixed, stock prices moved lower during the first two hours today in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Declines led adances, 644 to 461, among the 1,509 issues crossing the tape. The two-hour turnover amounted to more than 5,270,000 shares.

Investors welcomed the Federal Reserve Board's decision to support the dollar, which has been under pressure, but they were not inspired by it. Uncertainties again dominated market thinking.

Possibly some discouragement stemmed from the lack of progress at the Paris peace talks. President Nixon's adviser, Henry Kissinger, held private talks with the North Vietnamese only a day ago, but the result of the meeting has not been disclosed.

American General Insurance was the most active issue, off 3-8 at 16 3-4 on 252,900 shares, including a block of 165,000 shares at 16 1-2, off 5-8.

Prices were lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Canadian Occidental Petroleum was the most active issue, up 3-4 at 14 on 102,200 shares.

On the Big Board, Occidental Petroleum was delayed in opening by an influx of orders. The issue has been strong this week after the firm announced an agreement with the Soviet Union and said it made a second major oil discovery off Nigeria. Some analysts, however, questioned whether the rise in the stock price was warranted.

Some glamors were under pressure. R. J. Reynolds fell 3, Bausch & Lomb 1 1-2, Polaroid 2 3-8 and Liggett & Myers 1 1-8. Liggett & Myers and Polaroid both had lower second quarter earnings.

Los Angeles Chain Is Buying Webb And Rogers Drug Store

Mrs. Broman

Ellis

Webb and Rogers Drug Store at Fourth and B streets in San Rafael, which has been in operation for 63 years, is in the process of sale to Los Angeles chain called Huntington Health Services.

Included in the same deal is the sale of two other drug stores to the same firm — the Marin Center Pharmacy at 1321 South Eliseo in Greenbrae and Jack's Drug Store at 121 Tunstead Avenue in San Anselmo.

The new owners will change the names of the drug stores but plan to retain the same management, which means that all three drug stores will operate as in the past with the same personnel.

Huntington Health Services operates acute hospitals and general health care facilities in Southern California.

Webb and Rogers and the Greenbrae store will be called Bay Area Pharmacies, and Jack's Drug will be called Northern California Drugs.

Allan M. Hanson and Gary Rifkind, both of San Rafael, own Webb and Rogers and Marin Center Pharmacy in Greenbrae. Webb and Rogers was established in San Rafael in 1909. Hanson bought it 10 years ago, and Rifkind became a partner four years ago. The two set up the Marin Center Pharmacy in Greenbrae two years ago.

Jack's Drug Store in San Anselmo is owned by Don Bartolo of Santa Venetia, who bought it two years ago from Jack Nunes, now of Sonoma, who had the store for 20 years.

THE MERCHANTS COMMITTEE in charge of the San Anselmo Country Fair (Aug. 26) is holding a flea market this Sunday (July 23) in the city parking lot on San Anselmo Avenue across from Tamalpais Theater. The purpose is to raise money to finance the parade on Aug. 26. The flea market will open at 9:30 a.m.

ELIZABETH C. BROMAN, Mill Valley real estate broker, has opened a new firm called Tamalpais Homes Realty at 90 East Blithedale Avenue where Walburn Realty was formerly located. Mrs. Mat Walburn is retiring in order to travel.

Mrs. Broman was associated with Stewart Associates of Corte Madera, and before that, with Walburn Realty. Her husband, John Broman, a building contractor, will be associated with the new firm. The Bromans have lived in Mill Valley for 32 years.

Mrs. Broman is 1972 scholarship chairman of the Marin County Board of Realtors. She is also past president of the women's division of the Board of Realtors.

ARLEN O. ELLIS of Greenbrae has been named president of Madison and Burke, 114-year-old San Francisco real estate firm on Post Street.

"Our objective is to exapnd our organization into a full line real estate company throughout the entire state," said Ellis.

Ellis was manager of real estate for Industrial Indemnity Co. in San Francisco before the appointment. He has 17 years of experience in commercial and industrial real estate as well as income property management.

He is one of the directors and treasurer of the San Francisco Building Owners and Management Association, and president of the San Francisco Bay Area chapter of the Institute of Real Estate Management.

DE BEAU'S Jewelry & Giftware store at Srawberry Town and Country Village is now under the sole ownership of Leo Bell of Daly City.

Bell just bought out the interest of two other partners, Ben Lewy of Alameda and Morton Blake of Walnut Creek. The jewelry store, opened in 1969 at Strawberry, will operate unchanged.

DAVID N. SEDERQUIST Jr. of Belvedere, president of Action Alarm Co. in San Francisco, announced the appointment of Joseph M. Namphy of Atherton as his sales manager. Namphy had been director of educational systems for Behavioral Research Laboratories of Menlo Park.

Action Alarm Co. distributes Dictograph Security Systems.

THE INSURANCE Institute of America Inc. at Bryn Mawr, Pa., awarded diplomas to John K. Nicholas of Terra Linda and Peter R. Hyland of Novato for successful completion of the Institute's May examinations. Nicholas won a risk management diploma and Hyland a management diploma.

New Regulations On Recovered Items

An ordinance regulating disposition of unclaimed property found or recovered by Sausalito police or other city departments has been adopted by the city council.

The regulation, approved by the council Tuesday, requires that all unclaimed goods, except bicycles, be kept four months, then sold at public auction. Bicycles will be kept three months then sold, according to City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

SUBDIVISION — Postponed until its Aug. 1 meeting consideration of a subdivision map for a proposed development on 160 acres of Wolfback Ridge. At its July 4 meeting, the council referred the map back to developers Frank Lynch and Edward Fitzsimmons for changes. The matter was held over because one councilman, Evert Heynneman was absent.

SEWER CHARGE — Voted to levy an annual $6 sewer service charge on each residence in the city. The charge is the same as that approved for last year.

SPEED ZONE — Referred to the city's traffic committee a request by a group of citizens to change the speed limit on Bridgeway between Napa and Easterby streets from 35 to 25 miles per hour. The residents claim the higher speed is hazardous to children and animals living in that area of Bridgeway.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of William McDermott, who has decided to leave the planning commission after two months because of the press of business.

LETTER — Heard a letter from the Sausalito Citizens Council commending Fire Chief Robert L. Halon and asking that the council try to convince the chief to rescind his resignation. Halon resigned July 5 in a dispute with Heynneman over the councilman's charges that city department heads padded their budgets.

Hawaii Flight From San Francisco Added

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Pan American World Airways says it has added a second 747 jet Clipper flight on Saturday from San Francisco to Honolulu because of increased business.

The new flight will replace a smaller 707 plane, the line added on Wednesday.

4,800-Callup In September Due

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Selective Service System has issued a September draft call for 4,800 men.

The highest lottery number called, officials said Wednesday, would be 75—the same as in August.

The September call will bring the number of men drafted this year to 35,900, and spokesmen said they expected monthly calls to run about 4,700 the rest of the year.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has said no more than 50,000 men will be drafted altogether in 1972. The 50,000 figure would be the lowest since 76,500 were called up in 1962 and the second lowest in the 23 years since the Korean War.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

A Steadying Hand In Time Of Stress

Marin's Suicide Prevention Center, which was created on a shoestring budget a year ago, finds itself in financial straits despite some help from the Marin County Board of Supervisors and from United Bay Area Crusade.

Richard Reubin, director of the center, and some 65 volunteers who man the crisis phones round the clock seven days a week are serving a definite need. Because the center operates quietly and in strict confidence, few are aware of the key role it plays in the lives of those who, on occasion, are compelled to seek help from the reassuring voices and sympathetic ears of trained volunteers at the Suicide Center.

With so many other major tragedies involving masses of people commanding public attention, the work of the suicide center dealing with individual crises seems small by comparison. However, for the individual suffering emotional stress from circumstances beyond his control, and for his family and friends, the response to his cry for help can mean the difference between life and death.

Even the strongest among us, who normally feel it beneath his dignity to call on his fellow man for help, could find himself emotionally drained and at the breaking point in the face of personal tragedy.

Only a person who finds himself in those distressing circumstances can really appreciate the value of a crisis center where a calm voice and a steady hand are available 24 hours a day.

Of the 300 calls that come over the Center's hotline on an average month, some are repeat callers seeking periodic reassurances. But many others are first-time callers who are threading that thin line between living and dying and whose fate may hinge on the availability of the center and its dedicated volunteers.

Among the many causes that seek public support, the Marin Suicide Prevention Center is one of the deserving ones.

Donations may be sent to Marin Suicide Prevention Center, Post Office Box 792, San Anselmo, California, 94960.

'Quiet, Calm Deliberation'

Perhaps W. S. Gilbert overstated the case when he wrote, "Quiet, calm deliberation/ Disentangles every knot." But certainly quiet and calm are helpful when trying to solve the problems which are the lot of mankind.

We mention this because most of Marin provides the quiet, which in turn is conducive to calm. Away from the noise and frantic movement of the big cities, many difficult knots are untangled in the quiet gardens and in the shade and shelter of our county's redwoods, live oaks and other trees. It's nature's think-tank.

Adult Authority's Power To Determine Prison Term

(During Earl G. Waters' vacation, his column is being written by his guests. Today's column is by Henry W. Kerr, chairman of the California Adult Authority.)

By HENRY W. KERR

The Adult Authority is the parole board for adult male felons committed to state prison by the superior courts.

Our primary responsibilities are to conduct hearings to consider whether parole should be denied or granted to those legally eligible, and to review parole violations reported by parole agents of the Corrections Department's Parole and Community Services Division.

When the decision is made to grant parole, appropriate special conditions may be imposed in addition to the standard requirements. Review of parole violations is for the purpose of determining whether parole should be continued, reinstated, or suspended and a return to prison ordered for consideration of revocation. In addition, other miscellaneous matters are considered.

THE INDETERMINATE sentence was adopted by the California Legislature in 1917. A superior Court judge does not pronounce a fixed penalty at time of sentencing. An order for commitment to state prison is "for the term prescribed by law." For example, escape from a State prison without the use of force is punishable by a term from six months to five years; first degree robbery is punishable by a term of from five years to life. The Adult Authority has wide latitude in fixing terms and granting parole within those limits.

IN EVALUATING all case factors, we place great emphasis on the following: (1) details of current commitment offense; (2) extent and nature of criminal history and/or behavior pattern; (3) probation officer's presentence report and subject's attitude toward offense; (4) views of trial judge and district attorney; (5) views of defense counsel and any interested parties; (6) social and psychological history; (7) time served on current commitment offense; (8) response to institutional program in terms of participation and accomplishments; (9) present attitude toward offense and future; (10) insight into personal and family problems; (11) psychiatric evaluations (including prognosis) when required by law or board order; (12) nature and degree of threat to public safety; (13) plans and preparation for release on parole, including job offers, reasonable employment opportunities, family support, and living arrangements. Their order is more chronological than by priority. This is because the nature and degree of threat to public safety is our primary concern.

MEN IN THE prison system range in intelligence from borderline defectives to near geniuses; academically they range from illiterate grade school dropouts to holders of advanced and/or professional degrees. Many have inadequate education, employable skills, and motivation. We often hear that only the poor and disadvantaged go to prison. While many fit that description, business executives, educators, medical doctors, attorneys, and a wide range of public officials have been sent to prison. Some were wealthy personally, or had well-to-do parents.

There has been considerable discussion of whether rehabilitation can and does occur in prison. Rehabilitative programs are available to those who are motivated. It cannot be forced upon anyone who is resistent.

Public attitudes toward criminals and prisons vary. Some advocate releasing all prisoners immediately and tearing down all jails and prisons. Others suggest locking all criminals up and "throwing the key away." Moderates reject both viewpoints.

"It's Agnew again. Pass it on."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Deception Used To Gather Votes

When a man uses deception and knowingly lies to induce me to enter into a business transaction or contract it is called FRAUD. Such a man is rewarded with several years of free room and board in one of society's prisons.

But when a man uses deception and knowingly lies to induce me to vote for him it is called POLITICS. This man is rewarded with a nice salary and a great power.

Think about it folks!

McGovern Is Not 'Prince Of Peace'

Before hailing George McGovern's sensational emergence on the national stage as "The Second Coming", let's give this avatar a second look.

The facts are that he voted for the Gulf of Tonkin resolution, which got us into the Vietnam mess, that he supported "right to work" legislation (one of the reasons organized labor is against him), that he knows less about economics than my dog, and that he makes much of the fact that he was a bomber pilot in the Second World War. In his book, bombing is Ok if not inflicted on communists.

His constant posing as the Prince of Peace is a flagrant fraud on the electorate.

Shuttle Buses Open New Vistas

The beautiful photographs and descriptions of the Mt. Wittenberg trail in Pt. Reyes Seashore should lead many walkers to enjoy it. (I-J, July 13, "Shuttle Bus Service Opens Up New Vista.")

May I add one correction, and a clarification of the route?

This officially unnamed trail begins at the "summit" stop for the shuttle bus system. Walkers pass by the spectacular scenery shown in the photos to the top of the mountain. They then hike down the steep Sky Trail to the parking lot, where they left their cars, or to park headquarters, where they left the Golden Gate Transit bus.

Sky Trail is 1.4 miles long, according to the park map. The entire walk shown in your report is 2.6 miles long, from the bus stop to the parking lot. At a leisurely pace for full enjoyment, it takes about two and a half hours.

This point-to-point route is typical of many which can be worked out with the shuttle bus system, in contrast to hikes planned in the past, when you had to walk out from and back to the same place. Take the bus to the trailhead of your choice; then walk either to another bus stop, or back to your original starting point.

The buses thus give visitors new freedom to enjoy and explore the rugged central portion of Pt. Reyes National Seashore.

Little Gain From Closing School

As a Belvedere School parent I would like to respond to Leo Sousa's letter (July 13). First, the savings to the Reed District gained by closing the small schools would be minimal because new classrooms would have to be built, maintained and operated at Reed.

Secondly, there is a fact concerning Belvedere School land which is not often discussed. Three parcels of land on the Belvedere School site belong to the Belvedere Land Company and were given to the Reed District to use as a school only. Once the school is closed these parcels would revert to the Land Company for development and a school that may be needed when Hilarita Housing and future development of the Tiburon hills will be lost to the District. The price of new land and new classrooms is dear in this day and especially in Tiburon.

Finally, parents here are strongly committed to the principle of small neighborhood schools for grades K-2. Educators have no substantial research as to the superiority of a K-5 program versus a K-2 but the many, many people who signed petitions this year and two years ago and attended meetings to show our support of the small schools are convinced that we want the small neighborhood schools for the early primary grades.

We are not convinced that the closing of the schools would be a substantial savings to the community as we would need more classrooms at Reed and the loss of valuable real estate to the District would be irrevocable.

Red Cross Appeal Gets Big Response

Only a month ago the Marin Red Cross announced an assigned quota of $5,343 to assist the American National Red Cross in raising an estimated $5 million needed to care for victims of South Dakota floods and to replenish disaster funds exhausted by storms and floods in West Virginia, Kentucky, Texas, Washington, Oregon and Alaska.

Generous Marin residents responded to that appeal. Within two weeks flood relief donations had reached Marin's quota.

Then Hurricane Agnes hit the Florida coast. While Red Cross disaster workers were still on the job there, disaster struck closer to home. In the Sacramento Delta 3,000 persons were affected by flood. Red Cross supplied continued emergency care at shelters and mobile units in Rio Vista, and is assisting with relocation for hundreds who will not be able to return to flooded Isleton, Andrus and Brannan Islands for months.

On the heels of the Sacramento Delta floods the vast nationwide resources of the American Red Cross were called upon to the greatest extent ever when torrential rains spawned by Hurricane Agnes created one of the most widespread flood disasters in the nation's history. At the same time, hundreds were being cared for in Red Cross shelters when floods and windstorms damaged over 1,000 homes in Phoenix, Arizona.

Cost of the mammoth relief operation in the flood ravaged mid-Atlantic states is now expected to exceed $15 million — three times the mid-June appeal. Marin continues to respond to the need. As of July 14th, flood relief donations stood at $12,425.22.

This is indeed an extraordinary response to an extraordinary need of the Red Cross.

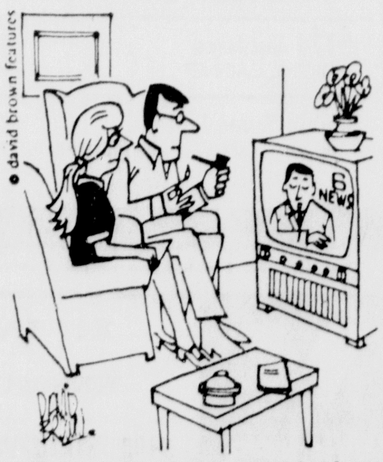

On behalf of those whom the Red Cross helps in your name, 1,830 Marin Red Cross volunteers thank you.

TODAY'S WORLD

MARQUIS CHILDS

Sen. McGovern Handicapped By Deteriorated Party Structure

MIAMI BEACH — The conventional wisdom about the events just concluded here is that Sen. George McGovern, having gotten himself out on a long ideological limb, will now submit his far-out positions to the nation. The outcome in November will be either yes or no on those positions.

This is a greatly oversimplified view of the contest soon to be joined since it ignores a factor fundamental to the success or failure of the McGovern campaign. That is the health of the Democratic Party out of national power for years.

As anyone circulating through this conclave could readily discover in state after state, the party is in a bad way. It is not merely the wounds opened in the course of the bruising battle for the nomination. The cause lies deeper in a kind of dry rot that set in after the defeat of four years ago.

ILLINOIS IS a case in point. To be sure, Mayor Richard J. Daley was so offended by the ruthless way in which he and his delegates were ruled out of the convention that he may knife the national ticket. But back of the Daley walk out — he never walked in since he failed to put in any appearance in Miami Beach — was a rough, tough primary fight that split the party down the middle.

In a demogogic isolationist, no-taxes campaign Dan Walker, spending large amounts of money in the primary race for the governorship spot, beat out Paul Simon, the lieutenant governor who had survived as the only Democrat in the statewide Republican sweep four years ago. Walker now faces the Republican governor, Richard A. Ogilvie, who had the courage to bite the tax bullet. The odds are on Ogilvie.

ONE CONSPICUOUS lack on the Democratic side is able young newcomers. When Harry Truman, running in 1948, was counted out by just about everybody, he had an invaluable assist in attractive younger candidates in one state after another. In Illinois Adlai Stevenson running for governor and Paul Douglas for the senate rolled up majorities of a half million or more and thereby carried Truman in with a squeak majority of 30,000.

Missouri is another example. Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton as the vice-presidential candidate may make a difference. But the party has been in a decline with Gov. Warren E. Hearnes doing little or nothing to arrest the slide. The smell of corruption among some of his henchmen has not helped. In contrast the Republicans this year have able young candidates while the Democrats grope for a possible successor to Hearnes.

UNTIL HE WAS tapped for the vice presidency Eagleton made no secret of his belief that President Nixon was all but certain to carry Missouri. And Missouri is a swing state having been on the winning side with one exception in every election since 1892.

In a somewhat different sense Connecticut is still another state in which the Democrats are in disarray. The party is in fact the lengthening shadow of Sen. Abe Ribicoff. The troubles of the late Sen. Thomas J. Dodd were deeply disruptive.

To a lesser degree Connecticut is also a barometer state — Hubert Humphrey carried it four years ago. While Ribicoff put McGovern in nomination members of the Connecticut delegation were moaning low about the chances in the fall.

THE PAINFUL TRUTH that emerged here is that the Democrats can no longer count on a glamorous figure who will turn the trick on the television screens. The creation of a new party structure as was proposed here makes eminent good sense. The Republicans witp their vast resources of money and their lien on television specialists can make do with a rally of the tribes every four years. "The Selling of the President 1968" showed how it could be done. And that is the way it may be done again.

Professing to be the party of the people the Democrats can now try to take the political process of the quadriennial hit or miss of national conventions and high-powered salesmanship.

The proposed plan calls for representative gatherings from around the nation four times a year to weigh the issues and the state of the party. It calls for paid membership in the party. In short it would take seriously what should be everybody's business and more often than not ends up being nobody's business.

This may be a midsummer fantasy that will vanish in the bleak winds of November. But at least it is an earnest effort to make politics more than a part-time hobby for a few rich men.

ERWIN D. CANHAM

We Need Better Way To Pick Vice Presidential Nominee

MIAMI BEACH — This convention ended its formal business, as many another has, with the rather graceless choice of a vice-presidential nominee.

And, of course, with Senator McGovern's acceptance speech, which was not graceless but full of eloquence and campaign pledges. The main promises were repeated, the main weaknesses — defense, welfare, taxes, Israel, etc. — were treated carefully.

THIS LIVELY, unprecendentedly amateur, but attractive and intelligent assemblage gave its nominee the welcome his warm personality and emotionally stirring program evokes.

Possibly the most admirable feature of this amazing assemblage is its endurance. The last night, embellished by one of a convention's highest emotional spots when the nominee accepts, ran way beyond television prime time into the small hours, but the delegates stayed in their seats up to 95 per cent. It has never happened this way before.

THE INCREDIBLE irresponsibility with which American political parties accept and ratify vice-presidential nominees was manifest. But even more incredible is the report that for several crucial hours during which Senator McGovern and his aides were weighing their choice, their first preference went to Mayor Kevin White of Boston.

I write as a long-time acquaintance and I hope friend of Mayor White. I believe Kevin White — despite the great compliment — would be the first to rejoice that the mantle has not fallen on his shoulders. I believe he would agree that his experience in public office has by no means fitted him for the office uuually described as one heartbeat away from the presidency.

MAYOR WHITE was recently resoundingly defeated for the governorship of Massachusetts, his administration in Boston's City Hall is open to very considerable criticism. He is attractive, lively, diligent, but with absolutely no experience on the national scene, though he has a good reputation there.

To nominate him for the vice-presidency, over numerous governors, senators, and other party leaders, would have been irresponsibility of the most inexplicable order. Evidently the McGovern people checked with Senator Kennedy, and with some members of the Massachusetts delegation, and changed their minds.

SOMEDAY WE WILL learn how to do the vice-presidential bit better. The Number Two man on the ticket ought to be almost equal in every way of his running mate. It has rarely been so, and it was not so, on the Republican side, four years ago. It is not so here now. Granted that Senator McGovern and his staff have been busy, it is hard to see why their scrutiny of running-mates could not have been more rigorous at an earlier and more leisurely stage. This time, too, several men were asked to be running-mates, or slightly more delicately approached, and turned it down. Not a good reflection on the office — or the ticket.

TO THE ADMIRABLE reforms worked out for the Democrats this year, should be added a shortening of the entire campaigning process, a different method of selecting presidential nominees, a more responsible process for choosing the vice-president.

The Republicans, who will move into Miami Beach only a little over a month from now, will have a hard time competing with this amazing body of people. If the new politics in the coming campaign turns out to be a fiasco — and this convention has been no fiasco — the G.O.P. will be tempted to say that reform is a bad idea. They would be wrong, over the long pull. The participation of the newcomers here is one of the great events of 20th century party history.

Sonoma County May Still Win Divorce Decree From ABAG

Sonoma County's stormy marriage with the Association of Bay Area Governments has put the limelight on a little known layer of government — the state Council on Intergovernmental Relations.

After an Alice-in-Wonderland stroll through the maze of Roberts' Rules of Order on Friday, the CIR found that its ruling last December that Sonoma County belonged with the other eight Bay Area counties as a regional planning unit, still held.

SONOMA'S STATUS with ABAG actually is moot — ABAG is voluntary, and the county can drop out simply by not paying dues. But the CIR ruling means that Sonoma deals with ABAG to win approval of state and federal grants for regional matters such as pure air and water, transportation and the like.

But Arthur Harris, ABAG's legal counsel, and J. Julien Baget, ABAG's chief executive, warned this writer Friday that Sonoma's divorce from the Bay Area is still possible. It could be revived at CIR's meeting next month, all because a CIR member who voted to keep Sonoma in the Bay Area last December later had a change of heart.

THAT WOULD BE San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald. After December, he had a change of heart in April, and voted for Sonoma's alliance with a proposed North Coast regional alliance.

The North Coast linkup is being pushed by Supervisors Robert Theiller of Sebastopol and Henry Spomer of Healdsburg, with the potent backing of Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka.

Collier had charged that CIR lacked a quota at its December meeting — only nine members were present. They voted 6-3 against the divorce. CIR Chairman Clifford R. Anderson Jr. retorted that nine constituted a quorum — in those days the panel had only 17 members and a vacancy. Nevertheless, the issue was reconsidered in April — where 12 members were present, and seven others voted by telegraph or mail.

IT WAS announced that the Theiller-Spomer-Collier axis won 10 to 8 — but then on Friday CIR member David Baker, a Riverside County supervisor, announced his telegraphic vote had been misread. That threw the whole mess into a 9-9 tie.

So Anderson ruled that the December vote still stood.

Normally that would mean the end of/the hassel, because Roberts' Rules of Order declared that a matter properly can be reconsidered only when "a member of the prevailing side" moved for reconsideration.

Normally, nobody who's won wants to give the other side another inning, but Fitzgerald has the pro-Bay faction worried.

PEPPERY JOSEPH Bort, an ABAG member recently appointed to CIR, tried to head off any such maneuver. He argued that the telegraphic votes were illegal, and the vote actually was 8-4 in favor of retaining Sonoma with the Bay Area. Although the attorney general's office issued a ruling backing Bort's stand, Chaiman Anderson said the CIR had always done business by mail ballot, and "it wasn't fair" to change the rules regarding the April vote.

Had Bort won, Fitzgerald's vote on the losing side in April would prevent him from moving in August for reconsideration.

IF YOU'RE CONFUSED about this, consider the feelings of the Sonoma Association of Mayors, which last Thursday night had to squelch an attempt by Theiller to vote anew on its stand over where Sonoma's affections are. Theiller spoke at the monthly dinner meeting, then asked for a show of hands. The vote was hastily halted, because such business was not on the association's agenda, according to Petaluma's Mayor Helen Putnam.

Senate Passes Bill To Prohibit Prison Disposal

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation preventing disposal of any San Quentin Prison property pending study of its possible public use has been approved by the Senate.

The bill, SB 229 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, cleared the upper house with a 23-6 vote, only two more than needed to send it to the Assembly.

Opposition came from Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, who argued plans by the Reagan administration to close the prison by the end of 1974 were premature. The prison may be needed for many more years, he said.

The bill prevents the sale, lease or transfer of the 440 acres until the Department of General Services studies its potential as a park site, public recreation area or wildlife refuge.

Information about costs may be obtained from Mrs. Melville Dickson of Woodacre.

ART BUCHWALD

If McGovern Wins In November He Will Yield To Ted Kennedy

TOP SECRET
Memo to C. White House
From H. Miami, Florida

I bugged the McGovern headquarters as per your instructions. Sorry for tardiness of transcript of tapes, but they were typed by Cuban refugees who planned Bay of Pigs operation.

Here in a nutshell is what we found out by listening in to his Dora! Hotel suite.

Despite denials, McGovern is still a stalking horse for Teddy Kennedy. The plan is for McGovern to campaign until November. Then, if he wins the election, he will ask Kennedy to be sworn in as President in his place. The McGovern strategists figure this is the only way Kennedy will accept the Presidency in 1972.

IN EXCHANGE FOR bowing out as President, McGovern is going to be rewarded by being made secretary of Agriculture. This will help him with his electorate in South Dakota. The Kennedy people have agreed to this in principle.

The tapes also indicate that the reason the McGovern strategists selected Tom Eagleton as the vice presidential candidate is that the American people are ready for a calm Administration after the excitement of Nixon's last four years.

They feel the people will buy the steady plodding manner of McGovern and Eagleton after living with the swinging glamorous Nixons.

THIS IS A DIRECT quote from the tapes by McGovern's top advisers.

"The people are fed up with style. We have to admit Nixon has charisma, but Americans want something more."

"Right. They're tired of reading about those wild bowling parties at Camp David and those raucous prayer breakfasts at the White House."

"You can say that again. They're sick of all the stories about Pat Nixon's clothes and her hairdresser."

"Not to mention David and Julie's high jinks in the Navy."

"Let's offer them a candidate — two candidates who may not set the world on fire like the Nixons do, but at least have substance."

The rest of the tape is blurred.

THE BUGGING ALSO revealed that the McGovern people plan to make the big issue of the campaign non-union lettuce. They're going to claim Agnew has eaten 3,456 salads at fund-raising dinners since he's been Vice President and not one of the leaves had a union label on it.

There were some serious brainstorming sessions on how McGovern was going to end the war in Vietnam. The plan is to announce just before November that if the Democrats are elected to the White House the President will promote Colonel Harlan Sanders of Kentucky Fried Chicken fame to general and put him in charge of the withdrawal of all American troops.

Also the tapes revealed it was no accident that McGovern and Eagleton made their acceptance speeches in Miami Beach at 3 o'clock in the morning.

THIS WAS PART of McGovern strategy to put a coalition of minorities together to win the election. The only minority McGovern hadn't won over to his side were people who can't sleep at night.

By going on all three networks at 3 o'clock Friday morning the McGovern forces sewed up the insomniac vote. Nobody else ever paid any attention to insomniacs before and they could easily swing the election.

Heat Wave Plays Havoc With East

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

For the first time in years, Margaret O'Reilly of New York City dined by candlelight with her husband. "It was very romantic," she said.

At Bay bstate Raceway in Foxboro, Mass., the horses in the sixth race had entered the home stretch when the lights went off and officials were unable to determine which entry was the winner.

In Mahwah, N.J., a walkout of workers protesting the heat Wednesday night forced the shutdown of the night shift at the Ford Motor Co.'s giant assembly plant, which has no air conditioning. The morning shift today reported without incident, however.

Ice cream vendors in Philadelphia reported sales were down. "Customers don't want to come out from their air conditioned houses and the kids won't come out of the pools even to get to the trucks," a Good Humor spokesman said.

In New York City the failure of an electric feeder cables blacked out or reduced power to more than 250,000 residents of Brooklyn late Wednesday night after the demand for electricity rose to a record 7,872,000 kilowatts. Power was restored to most of the area by early this morning.

It was the second time in three days that Brooklyn was hit by a power failure and the Consolidated Edison Co. warned it might have to make selective power reductions to maintain service today.

From Boston to Washington hundreds of thousands of persons turned on their air conditioners to escape the heat and pollution, while in the streets of large cities such as New York, children frolicked in the spray of fire hydrants, turned on illegally in most cases.

Mrs. O'Reilly, minus her electrical power, and the others were doing what they could Wednesday, trapped as they were, by the mass of stagnant hot air along the East Coast which sent temperatures and tempers rising and electric power falling.

No relief was in sight for at least a couple of days, the weather service said.

An advisory by the National Weather Service and the Federal Environmental Protection Agency urging persons with respiratory ailments to stay in air conditioned rooms created additional woe for electrical utilities already racing to keep up with the thermometer soaring in the nineties.

Some relief was provided for the citizenry by a major electrical storm which struck much of southern New England suffering from a heat wave which boosted temperatures for the sixth straight day.

The storm blacked out most of Rhode Island for more than an hour Wednesday night. Providence, Cranston and Pawtucket were without power.

A pollution alert was issued for Connecticut and the Springfield, Mass., area, about 90 miles west of Boston. Residents were asked to curtail use of motor vehicles and open burning was banned in Connecticut and in several New York counties.

Electricity was restored to most of the affected areas by midnight and power company crews worked to return service to others early today.

At one time, according to state police, the entire northern half of Rhode Island—about 450,000 people—were without power.

WORD-A-DAY

U.S. Moves To Increase Dollar Value

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In a move designed to boost the value of the dollar in foreign exchange markets, the Federal Reserve Board Wednesday reactivated a "swap network" for trading foreign currencies that had been suspended for nearly a year.

In a separate action Wednesday, the Federal Reserve's Foreign Trading Desk in New York entered the currency market and sold a sizable sum of U.S.-held West German marks.

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns said of the actions: "We are moving to play our part to restore order in the foreign exchange market and to do our part in upholding the Smithsonian Agreement just as other countries are doing."

He said the moves were taken "entirely on our own initiative," meaning on the initiative of the United States.

The swap network is a system of reciprocal borrowing arrangements between the United States and other major industrial countries. It was suspended last Aug. 15 when President Nixon also halted convertibility of foreign-held dollars into gold and announced sweeping domestic economic controls.

Golf is a popular sport in Argentina, with about 20 courses in the outskirts of Buenos Aires alone.

Revenue Sharing Will Get Big Push

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon and a dozen state governors agreed today to press for Senate approval of a $5.3 billion revenue sharing bill.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said after a White House breakfast meeting that if the Senate made extensive changes in the House-passed version of the legislation, the whole program could be lost in Congress' adjournment rush.

"We want to avoid amendments that could kill the whole program," Rockefeller told reporters at the White House.

Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland, a Democrat, said he felt it was unrealistic for the governors to urge the Senate to pass the bill without change. But he said the governors would advocate approval only of amendments which would not result in a major Seante House fight.

The bipartisan grosp of governors met for an hour and a half with Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to discuss strategy for supporting the President's plan to distribute federal money with few restrictions to state and local governments.

Mandel, chairman of the National Governors Conference, said the state executives were "very encouraged" as a result of their meeting with Nixon and Agnew. "They will make every effort to see that revenue sharing is passed at this session of Congress," Mandel said.

Governor Arch A. Moore of West Virginia, former conference chairman, said the governors are "totally committed to revenue sharing."

Other governors who attended the meeting were Winfield Dunn of Tennessee; David Hall of Oklahoma; Richard Kneip of South Dakota; Tom McCall of Oregon; Richard Ogilive of Illinois; Walter Peterson of New Hampshire; William Milliken of Michigan; Patrick Lucey of Wisconsin and William T. Cahill of New Jersey.

Gov. Robert Ray of Iowa was invited but did not attend.

Trudeau's Wife To Bypass Campaign

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau says his 23-year-old wife, Margaret, probably will not campaign in the next general election.

Trudeau said Wednesday he didn't want his "family life to be mixed up in politics. I would prefer my wife not to be mixed up in the campaign."

'Donut Dollies' Are Leaving War Area

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Little noticed in the withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam, the last of the "Donut Dollies" —the American Red Cross Clubmobile girls—are packing up for home.

The Army said more than 600 of the girls, most of them just out of college, have served in Vietnam since the program began there with the troop build-up in 1965.

Zoo's Half-Ton 'Liger' Is Dead

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— Shasta, alleged by zoo officials to be the only half-lion, half-tiger in the world, died Wednesday of old age in the Hogle Zoo.

A spokesman said the "liger" had been one of the zoo's main attractions for 20 years. The cat was 24 years old.

Shasta was an offspring of a male African lion and a Bengal tigress, according to La Mar Farnsworth, zoo director.

Stones' Chauffeur, Girl Booked On Pot

BOSTON (UPI)—Two more members of the Rolling Stones entourage have been arrested and released on bail.

James P. Cullie, 25, identified by police as the rock group's chauffeur and Rita Redmond, 23, his girlfriend, were arrested Wednesday afternoon for possession of narcotics. Both of Denver, Colo., they were released on $5,000 bail each.

The previous night in Warwick, where the Stones' plane was forced to land because Boston was fogged in, lead singer Mick Jagger and four others were arrested after an argument with news photographer Andy Dickerman. Boston Mayor Kevin H. White intervened with Warwick officials to get the Stones released on bail so they could appear for their first concert.

The Stones held the concert Wednesday morning — four hours later than planned—and held their second Wednesday night. Sellout crowds attended both performences at the Boston Garden and police said the fans remained relatively orderly although about 50 arrests were made on various charges, mostly involving disorderly conduct.

The Providence Journal Bulletin Co. said Wednesday it would file a civil damage suit against Jagger and Keith Richard — another performing member of the Stones—as a result of the Tuesday night incident involving Dickerman, one of the Journal's employes.

Dickerman said the Stones assaulted him while he was taking their pictures at Theodore Green Airport in Warwick.

The next appearance for the Stones is in Philadelphia and their tour ends later this month.
